Civil War In France Outlaw Cry

ALGIERS (UPI) — The outlawed Secret Army Organization yesterday called for total civil war if necessary to prevent President Charles de Gaulle from turning over Algeria to the Moslems.

The call, in a pirate radio broadcast, came while European-Moslem terrorists continued to take a heavy toll. At least 12 more people were killed in Algeria's major cities during the day, bringing the death toll since New Year's to 91. About 200 more have been wounded in the past five days.

18 KILLED

On the military front, the French reported 18 soldiers killed and seven wounded in an ambush by National Liberation Front rebels at Setif in east Algeria. It was the third ambush this week by the Moslem rebel force, which, the French announced, lost 543 men killed or captured between Dec. 16 and 29.

The Secret army had plastered Algiers, Oran and other cities with posters calling for "general mobilization" against de Gaulle's plans for an independent Moslem Algeria.

It followed up with a broadcast on a frequency close to that of the French-operated state broadcasting station, declaring:

"Since the Paris government wants civil war, it can have it. Every European in Algeria should consider himself as mobilized."

Packed Bus Somersaults

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) —A packed bus rolled 400 feet into a gorge yesterday west of Sydney, killing three women and injuring 30 people. The bus somersaulted eight times, split open and stopped on the brink of another 500-foot gorge.

500,000 Indians Stampede

PATNA, India (UPI) — Half a million Indians stampeded repeatedly yesterday in a panicky, suffocating mass of humanity surging forward to see and hear Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru address a meeting of his ruling Congress party.

The government withheld an immediate anouncement on casualties, but a "large number" of persons including women and children was reported to have been crushed or suffocated. No deaths were mentioned, but a high toll was feared.

ROOM FOR 100,000

The huge throng had been herded into a compound made of corrugated iron sheets used for roofing. The compound, constructed to hold 100,000 persons, was separated into sections by log barriers and had only one narrow exit.

Thousands of people anxious for a closer look at Nehru and other party leaders surged forward suddenly in a mass of bodies that jammed closer together as it neared the exit leading toward the speaker's platform.

SCREAMS

An announcer seized a microphone and appealed for order "in the name of God" but the crowd surged through the narrow opening toward Nehru like water through a bursting dam. There were screams from those being trampled.

The stampeding multitude halted briefly, and during the lull Nehru tried to soothe the crowd. He reminded it that only discipline had enabled the Indian troops to capture Goa from the Portuguese. But his words went unheeded and the stampede resumed.

The angry prime minister left the meeting and the session was ordered closed. This touched off another surge forward by the crowd hastening to move forward before he disappeared from sight.

PRESSURE RISES

The session was to have been the formal opening session of the 67th annual congress called a few weeks before India's general elections.

In a morning meeting, delegates demanded that a dead line be set to drive the Pakistanis out of disputed areas of Kashmir and the Chinese Communists out of the thousands of miles of Ladakh they have seized.

The same pressure that led to the Indian attacks on Goa was building up for immediate action against Pakistan and Red China.

Minuteman Back On Time

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States yesterday put its Minuteman "instant ICBM" program back on time.

The seventh intercontinental-range Minuteman, fired from a concrete-lined hole in the ground, smacked into the target area, 3,200 miles away.

A senior official said the shot "put us right back on schedule."

Segregation Or Nothing

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) —The city plans to remove seats from waiting rooms, padlock toilets and plug water fountains at the municipal airport, where a federal judge has banned segregation.

And, said city attorney Calvin Whitesell, the airport restaurant will be closed if there is a concerted effort to integrate it.

U.S. District Judge Frank Johnson outlawed segregation at the terminal as a result of a suit brought by the federal government at the request of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

He also directed that race-designating signs on separate facilities be removed.

Police Hunt Pagans

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) — Police are hunting for members of a pagan cult in the belief that a woman found stabbed to death two weeks ago may have been the victim of a ritual "full moon murder."

The cult, which has a wide following here, worships the Polynesian god of fertility named Tiki. When the moon is full, Tiki is said to demand a blood sacrifice.

FULL MOON

Maureen Dutton, 27, was found stabbed to death with 14 knife wounds on Dec. 22, a night when the moon was almost full.

Chief Det. Supt. James Morris appealed to members of the cult "to come forward to help in the investigation"—the equivalent, in British police parlance, of a statement that they are wanted for questioning.

Police have combed coffee bars and clubs for Tiki cultists, many of whom are university students.

GROTESQUE IMAGES

Tiki disciples keep wooden images of the grotesquely-shaped god, usually about eight inches high, in their homes. Some abase themselves before the idol and burn incense.

Other ornaments used in the rituals include necklaces of polished sea shells. The more fervent worshippers have a cult mark tattooed on their arms.

Tiki worshippers have been known to visit the Duttons. Mrs. Dutton's husband is a research chemist and a doctor of philosophy.

Training On Ice

Two hundred tons of ice cover the destroyer Nootka as it returns to Halifax after exercises in Arctic waters. The defence department said it was part of a sea training program in all climates.

Magazine Job

Canadian Hires Lord Snowdon

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret's husband, former society photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones, will return to professional photography as a paid artistic adviser to the Canadian-owned London Sunday Times starting Feb. 1, it was announced yesterday.

The announcement that the princess' husband — now the Earl of Snowdon — was taking a job with the paper headed by Canadian publisher Roy Thomson, was made by Maj. John Griffin, press secretary at Clarence House, home of Queen Mother Elizabeth.

DISCUSSED

Griffin said Lord Snowdon had discussed the job with the Sunday Times, with Princess Margaret and with Queen Elizabeth before accepting it.

Lord Snowdon will also retain his current post as an unpaid adviser to the Council for Industrial Design.

The editor of the Sunday Times, C. D. Hamilton, described Lord Snowdon's new post as a "real job of work" and termed it "the logical sequel to Lord Snowdon's earlier photographic career."

NOT 'HOT' SIDE

Hamilton added that Lord Snowdon would occasionally take pictures himself in his new post, but is "not going to work on the hot side of newspaper work, which might be an embarrassment to him.

"We shall not be taking advantage in any way of his connection with the Royal family by way of asking him to take any royal pictures."

Tornado Rips Florida

CRESTVIEW, Fla. (UPI)— A tornado tore into this northwest Florida city yesterday, killing a baby girl, injuring at least 25 persons and cutting a wide swath of destruction through "the whole northside of town."

Sheriff Ray Wilson said the damage was so widespread "you can't tell whether there's 100 or 200 homes demolished, but there's at least 100."

At least 25 persons were treated for injuries.

Indonesia Rumbles

Dutch Warned To Surrender

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) —The Indonesian air force yesterday banned all flights over easternmost Indonesia and a government spokesman warned the Netherlands to negotiate the surrender of West Irian (Dutch New Guinea) or face "total capitulation."

Air force spokesman Maj. Agus Suroto said the ban on flights over Indonesian territory closest to New Guinea was in line with President Sukarno's mobilization order for the "liberation" campaign.

He said the action invalidated all permits previously issued for flights in the area and warned that violation of the ban would bring "serious and firm" action by the Indonesian air force. The air force recently was reinforced with Soviet-made MiG jet fighters.

Sukarno appealed to the nation Dec. 19 to mobilize for the fight to "liberate" the Dutch-controlled New Guinea territory he claimed is part of Indonesia. The armed forces have already been alerted for possible action.

'Wise Men' Urged To Find Solution

Willing To Talk

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Indonesia has informed Acting Secretary General U Thant that it remains willing to negotiate a settlement of its dispute over West New Guinea, but insists on advance assurance that such negotiations would lead to Indonesia's taking over the territory.

THE HAGUE (UPI) — A group of prominent Dutch, in an unprecedented move, has sent a petition to Queen Juliana asking for the appointment of a commission of "wise men" to help solve the dispute with Indonesia over Dutch New Guinea, authoritative sources said last night.

The sources who asked that their identity be withheld said the group included some of Holland's 11 provincial governors, mayors of some large cities and members of the judiciary.

Two Bodies Brought Up

TIMMINS (CP) — The bodies of two Timmins gold miners were recovered from under tons of wet sand in the Paymaster Consolidated Mine Friday after an all-night search by their fellow workers.

The victims were shift boss John Barkley, 47, and Rondanino Palumbo, 50.

Flu at the Top

Political power doesn't mean immunity to flu. Down with the flu yesterday were Prime Minister Macmillan in London and Prime Minister Khrushchev in Moscow, but doctors said they're both well enough to work at home.

Happy Now

He Talked Himself Into Jail Headstand

REGINA (CP) — Edward Adrian Poitras, 31, of Moose Jaw, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of false pretences. He asked to pay a fine instead of going to jail.

"You'll have to go to jail," said Magistrate E. L. Elliott.

"I have the money to pay for a fine and if a fine will not be imposed I'll change my plea," Poitras said.

"Okay, but if you're convicted, you'll be sent to jail."

"I'll plead guilty then," Poitras said.

"I sentence you to 15 days," the magistrate said.

"Fifteen days — that's not very much."

"Okay then, I'll make it 30 days."

"Thirty days — why, I can serve that standing on my head."

"If you can, then try 60 days."

"That isn't very much. I can also serve that standing on my head."

"Okay, then you'll go to jail for three months. Are you happy now?" said the magistrate.

"Yes, I am. Thank you very much," said Poitras.

Red Planes Bring Aid

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — The first Soviet plane seen here since the heyday of Patrice Lumumba arrived Friday, bringing doctors and medical supplies for flood victims in Oriental and Equator provinces.

The Russian aid is to be distributed through the United Nations.

'It's a Miracle'

Born with Cancer Babies Recovered

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The cases of two girl babies born with widespread cancer and apparently cured before their first birthdays were disclosed Friday by their physician.

The parents of one child called it a miracle due to prayers of friends.

The parents of the other attributed the recovery to quick surgery and radiation treatments.

HOSPITAL LAUDED

The physician who removed tumors from both infants said the credit was due largely to "the enlightened attitude and excellent facilities of the hospital in which they were born — the "Little Company of Mary Hospital" of suburban Torrance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Calise of nearby Lomita said: "We know it is an act of God that saved our daughter Lucia Angela."

Lucia was born a year ago with cancer in her stomach, neck and bone marrow. The obstetrician had to breathe into her mouth to bring her to life.

Three days later she underwent surgery, even though doctors told the Calises she had almost no chance.

Now her physician said: "As far as we can tell she is free of cancer."

He Tried Hard To Die

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 62-year-old Brooklyn man swallowed lye, slashed his wrists and throat and gripped an electrified subway third rail in unsuccessful suicide attempts.

Police said Isidore Lubin was in critical condition.

He was pulled from the third rail by a subway motorman and a conductor.

They Lost 11 Days in 1752 — Time Is Catching Up

Christmas Comes to Outer Banks

RODANTHE, N.C. (UPI) — Christmas came yesterday in this little community on the Outer Banks but it will not be celebrated until today.

The Jan. 5 Christmas or "Old Christmas" has been observed on the Outer Banks, so the story has it, since 1752, when the present calendar, which eliminated 11 days, was introduced.

Since that date, the hardy folks of the Outer Banks have celebrated "Old Christmas" on the eve of the Epiphany.

But time has caught up with the Outer Banks and many of its residents have moved to the mainland. And that is the reason why "Old Christmas" will be celebrated today.

The families want to give all the relatives a chance to return to the Outer Banks for the annual ceremony which includes the pounding of an ancient drum and the appearance of "Old Buck."

Legend has it that "Old Buck," the Christmas bull, packs a mean wallop for those children who have been naughty during the year.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

More about the lad who was jeered for coming to high school in a white shirt and tie—an item that appeared in this space yesterday.

I didn't identify the school, but I did make the mistake of naming the lad's racial origin, which was not the point. I shouldn't have mentioned that.

"Too bad you newspaper writers don't check your facts," a teacher said.

He pointed out that there is no thought of racial prejudice among the students.

This is certainly true, not only of this particular school, but of all schools in this region. I am sorry if I conveyed the idea that this was an incident of racial prejudice, because I don't believe that it was.

Racial prejudice of several kinds does exist, but there is little or any of it in Greater Victoria schools.

No, this was a much different kind of intolerance. And the lad's racial origin had little to do with it—except as a matter of interest.

This was a case of the intolerance that young people show to anyone who behaves or dresses differently from the accepted majority.

I am sorry that I focussed attention on the boy, because I have caused him some embarrassment, and he wants to be accepted as one of the gang, which is the normal wish of boyhood. I won't focus attention on him again after this explanation.

'Only One Spoke'

"I talked to him," the teacher said, "and only one student spoke to him about wearing a white shirt and tie."

In fact, a number of students were seen and heard baiting him for being dressed up. I have since checked back, and found that to be true.

But the lad wants to forget about it. I agree with him. So would any boy in his place.

I think it was a matter of group prejudice or class prejudice. Open-necked sports shirts are the accepted thing, and a person who wears any other kind of garment is a square.

This could be hard on a lad on his first day at a new school, in a new kind of environment.

Why not accept his style of clothes as being his own business, and nobody else's?

Or at least, why not lay off him until he begins to feel at home? This would be the kind thing to do.

However, some people take time to learn kindness, and others never learn it.

Not All Hoodlums

"Your story gave people the impression that the students at the school were all hoodlums," the teacher said.

"That wasn't what I said," I objected.

"You said they all had skin-tight jeans and long hair," the teacher pointed out.

"I didn't say all of them do," said some of them," I maintained.

"There aren't too many with long hair," he said. "We don't often have to tell them off about haircuts. Another point—you check in the clothing stores and see how hard it is to buy anything but tight-fitting pants, for a reasonable price."

"I didn't say all of them do," I promised.

Modern Cattle Drive Starts Across Snows

MURDO, S.D. (AP) — Don Hight sat astride his quarter horse on a windswept hill in southern South Dakota Thursday, watching his 1,800 cattle nudge their way southwest to market over 60 miles of trackless plains.

"It's better to move them all in one lick," said the red-faced, cigar-chomping rancher. "I figure I'm saving better than $2,000 by driving them instead of using trucks. In all, it's better this way."

Thus began the modern rarity of a major cattle drive.

Hight and his crew of cowboys, plus a few hired hands, started the herd on its way from the Hight ranch near Murdo at 6:30 a.m. (CST) Thursday.

The herd, valued at an estimated $360,000 on the hoof, walking its way to the auction block despite freezing temperatures, indifferent winds and the threat of a dangerous snowfall.

The drive started in predawn hours as the herd—1,100 cows and 700 steers — was driven over the uncertain ice covering the White River, about seven miles south of Murdo.

Workers in Ceylon On One-Day Strike

COLOMBO (AP) — Most of Ceylon's business clerks and the bulk of the 600,000 workers on tea and rubber plantations Friday went on a 24-hour general strike called by the Communist-dominated Trade Union Federation and the Marxist Social Equality party.

The strike was in protest against the government's use of troops in Colombo port where dock workers walked out 23 days ago for higher wages.

Don't Panic Over Angina But Do Heed Its Warning

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: The doctor says I have angina pectoris. I'm in a state of fear. He didn't say anything to scare me, but the shock is getting the best of me. I am 53 years old and strong as an ox.—Mrs. H.R.

Yes, it's disconcerting to learn one's heart is misbehaving, but let me tell you this—you have a great deal of company and many of these people got the news a long time ago.

The heart is such a vital organ that any warning of an ailment should be taken seriously. But don't get panicky about it. Rather, take whatever steps are required and then go on enjoying life.

Angina pectoris is a pain which originates in the heart. Generally this means the circulation of blood to the heart muscle (not into and out of the heart itself) isn't up to par. Too much exertion causes a pain, a signal to slow down.

The pain, resembling "pressure in the chest," can be decidedly severe. It may spread to the left arm, neck or back.

REST IS BEST

Rest is the best treatment. Nitroglycerin tablets or similar compounds, placed under the tongue give immediate relief by allowing an easier flow of blood to the heart muscle.

If you don't heed the warning, just because you are "strong as an ox," you're asking for real trouble.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: In my teens I gave in during a silly moment to some home-style tattooing but I was told it could be removed by using buttermilk. I found out this was a hoax. Is there any way of removing it without plastic surgery.—R.R.

None. Cover the tattoo with some other design to make the original less noticeable.

* * *

Mrs. P.W.: Your neighbor to the contrary, cancer is not hereditary.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 17 and have been a diabetic for one year. It seems that where I inject insulin, the tissues break down and leave an indentation.—M.M.

It's called "insulin lipoatrophy," a loss of fat under the skin at the point of injections. The cause is not known.

Don't use cold insulin. The bottle in current use can be kept at room temperature without losing its strength. Try a more concentrated insulin; be sure to use an appropriately marked syringe. Scatter the shots more. Possibly give them a little deeper.

Manure 'Must Have Been Years Ago'

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — A Canadian student's initiative may bring permanent action to preserve the West Country burial site of John Graves Simcoe, first lieutenant-governor of Upper Canada.

John Colston of McGill University recently wrote to British newspaper publisher Geoffrey Harmsworth, owner of the chapel where Simcoe is buried, suggesting that a trust fund be created to preserve the chapel.

Harmsworth, a nephew of the late newspaper publisher Lord Northcliffe proposed a meeting to discuss it.

The chapel is at Wolford, near Honiton in Devon, on an estate owned by A. G. Le Marchant, who is understood to have co-operated in efforts to preserve it.

The Harmsworth family has been trying off and on for many years to get "some Canadian" interested in preserving the burial site. Simcoe's wife and other members of the family are also buried there.

Told of complaints that the chapel had been used to store manure, a spokesman said: "If so that must have been years ago."

'Invasion' Timely

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — The royal Laotian government, now engaged in a tug-of-war with Washington over U.S. aid, said today a reinforced division of Chinese Communist troops had passed through Laos and invaded South Viet Nam.

Best informed Western sources in Vientiane said no evidence of such an invasion was available. They recalled a false claim by the royal government on Dec. 30, 1960, that seven battalions of Communist North Viet Namese troops had invaded Laos, and said U.S. support was involved then.

In Washington, state department officials said they had heard nothing of any Chinese invasion. There were unconfirmed reports in Washington that Premier Prince Boun Oum might be planning some action against the Communists and that the United States was considering suspending aid to prevent the royal government from starting the civil war again.

A Laotian communique broadcast here said Chinese forces entered South Viet Nam under command of a Gen. Liu Thieu Nam, but that an accompanying regiment from North Viet Nam remained behind in Laos.

Observers here cautioned against accepting the communique without further evidence as all-out Chinese intervention in the Viet Nam civil war. They said it was unthinkable that a division-sized unit could cross the length of Laos without alerting anti-Communist guerrillas and Western intelligence sources.

Most Western sources considered the announcement astonishing and said they believed it was a right-wing attempt to swing American support behind the government in a crusade against Laos' own pro-Communist rebels.

First Edition Of 'Alice' Brings $2,500

LONDON (CP) — A first edition of "Alice in Wonderland" that was bought for about $0 cents in an Indian bookshop, sold for nearly $2,500 at a London auction. It was bought by New York dealer Lew Feldman from the anonymous owner who discovered it in Bangalore.

Key Senator Raps Buying UN Bonds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Richard B. Russell of the Senate armed services committee, criticizing the use of UN force in the Congo, said yesterday he would not be disposed to favor the world body's proposed bond issue.

The Georgia Democrat's committee is expected to take up President Kennedy's proposal that the U.S. purchase up to half the UN's scheduled $200,000,000 bond issue.

Trapped Car In Chunks

Car stalled on a railroad crossing south of Topeka, Kan., was ripped into three major pieces and its driver killed when it was hit by a speeding train yesterday. The car, driven by Bernard E. Etzel, 42, of Topeka, stopped on the tracks when crossing gates lowered in front of and behind it. Witnesses said Etzel was unable to crash clear due to snow and ice on the road.—(AP Photofax.)

North Viet Nam

Rebels Harry Red Stronghold

SAIGON (AP) — Anti-Communist rebel activity in North Viet Nam is increasing sharply, government sources here say.

Rebel strongholds in the inland highlands and the Red River Delta are gaining strength and causing major damage to Communist plants and defence installations.

Among the areas listed as major resistance centres was the province of Nghean in the Red River Delta, a region where much of the population is Roman Catholic. Communist reprisals against residents of the area have increased sharply.

The Red government at Hanoi has tacitly acknowledged it is having problems with rebels. The official paper of the North Vietnamese Communist party has charging in recent weeks that guerrillas sent north by South Viet Nam and the United States have been "working with peasant resistance groups in the highlands and causing widespread sabotage."

South Viet Nam and the U.S. deny they are sending agents north of the demarcation.

Tunisia, France To Discuss Base

TUNIS (UPI) — France and Tunisia announced yesterday they will resume talks next week in a new attempt to settle their quarrel over France's big naval base at Bizerte.

But there were signs they are still far from agreement. The base has been a sore spot in French-Tunisian relations since Tunisia marched on it in July, touching off a bloody battle in which more than 700 Tunisians were killed.

Canada Soon to Get U.S. Atomic Data

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian companies soon will be able to use American techniques to produce heavy water for atomic power plants of the future.

J. L. Gray, president of Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, said in an interview that arrangements now are being made with the United States Atomic Energy Commission for the release to Canadian companies of technical know-how in heavy water production.

Any Canadian companies deciding to produce heavy water will be launching into a venture involving capital expenditures in the multi-million-dollar range and an annual output with a sales value ranging upward from some $10,000,000.

A Canadian heavy water plant would likely be located in an area where large quantities of low-cost steam and electricity are available. An area with a strip-mining coal operation or an easily accessible supply of natural gas would be suitable.

Heavy water now used in Canadian-designed atomic power plants and nuclear research reactors is purchased from the United States at $28 a pound.

Market Conference Makes No Progress

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — Cabinet ministers of the six Common Market countries failed again Friday to make any real progress toward an agreement on a uniform farm policy.

Sources close to the council of ministers said after it adjourned for the day that no solution had been reached on the problems of regulations on fruit and vegetable imports, standards for setting minimum prices to protect domestic producers and the financing of the farm policy.

Even the question of processed food products which had been considered settled, came up again when Belgium objected to import regulations already accepted by the other five countries.

Policemen Sentenced To Prison

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Two former Burlington policemen were sentenced to four to six years in state prison Friday. They admitted a Dec. 21 break-in at a city restaurant while on duty and in uniform. John R. Adams, 26, and John J. Malloy, 29, whose combined service on the force totalled 13 years, pleaded guilty to a single count of burglary.

Helicopter Does 199

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new helicopter speed record of 199.01 miles an hour for a three-kilometer distance has been claimed by the U.S. Navy. The record was set Dec. 30 by Cmdr. Patrick Sullivan and Marine Capt. David Spurlock.

PAGE FOUR — SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1962

A Resounding Success

THE OTTAWA MEETING between Britain's Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath and four Canadian cabinet ministers has apparently resulted in a reconciliation of the major differences between the two governments over the European Common Market negotiations and heightened prospects for a top-level Commonwealth conference on the matter.

The official communique issued after the ministers' two-and-a-half-hour conference indicated that agreement had been reached on many points of conflict and had successfully healed the much-talked-about "simmering feud" between Britain and Canada.

This is indeed good news. Though it is suspected that the violence of the family quarrel between the two countries had been blown up to far more than life-size by detractors of both governments involved, there is little question that a strong separation of views existed.

Canada's main complaint had been that the United Kingdom was not free enough with its reports on its meetings with the ECM council, particularly on matters which might gravely affect future Canadian and Commonwealth trade.

Mr. Heath has now clarified this point, among others, and has given his government's assurance that Canada will, in future, be kept fully informed on ECM negotiations, stressing at the same time that the United Kingdom would make every effort to "safeguard the essential trade interests of Canada and other Commonwealth countries."

Another important point seemingly won by the Canadian ministers in their discussions with Mr. Heath was contained in the communique which stated that "complete agreement (had been reached) on the great value of Commonwealth trade links and the need to maintain them. . . ."

This statement has already been noted by observers as being in sharp contrast to pronouncements made recently by certain other senior British officials who openly expressed doubts that Commonwealth trade could be developed in such a way to solve Britain's shaky export problem.

Canada also made concessions, namely in agreeing to provide the British government with complete information of all aspects of Canadian trade interests relevant to the ECM negotiations. This indicates that the Ottawa government is now willing to name specific trade items for special consideration for any concessions that might be granted, rather than insist that Britain be bound to a policy of safeguarding the whole of Commonwealth trade.

This, although it will force the Canadian government into the unhappy position of having to choose which of its national products deserve priority in protection, will enable the British negotiating team to present concrete and itemized proposals before the ECM council.

All in all, Mr. Heath's visit has been a resounding success in clearing away much of the suspicion and confusion brought about by the earlier inadequate consultations between the two governments.

Hopeful Signs

JUDGED BY the ratio of cars on the road and increased mileage — figures which grow with each passing year—the B.C. road safety record for last year is reported to have improved. By comparison with the record fatal year of 1956, for instance, deaths have fallen from 9.03 per 100 million miles travelled to about seven.

That is still a significant number, for it meant that in 1961 no fewer than 317 persons died on B.C. roads. That is too many.

There are some signs, however, that the general motoring public is taking the matter of road safety more to heart. The former complacency is disappearing, at least to a noticeable extent. In the Victoria area for example the recent holiday season passed with a minimum of accidents, proof that the lessons are being driven home.

It may be therefore that the repeated warnings of motor licence officials, the police, the press and other agencies are beginning to pay dividends. Certainly there can be no excuse now for motorists to be unaware of the dangers attending high speed and careless driving.

The attrition of lives everywhere over the past two decades due to car accidents has been enormous, rivalling the ravages of war. It has been an ever-increasing menace to society. It would be comforting to hope that the pattern might be reversed. B.C. drivers at least have it in their power to make 1962 a safer year than ever for their fellow citizens.

Times Have Changed

THE FIRST inclination of many Victorians likely will be to cast doubt on the economic feasibility of a "ferry" service between San Francisco and Victoria as advocated suddenly and enthusiastically by Premier Bennett, apparently as the result of a private group showing interest in this idea.

Times and ways have changed, however, in the long interval since the run became unprofitable and the last streamers parted between dock and San Francisco-bound ship at the Outer Wharves.

The lure of the open road was beginning to draw motorists to the highways then; now highway travel must be a shrinking pleasure to thousands upon thousands of West Coast vacationers who have had their fill of driving in heavy and high-speed traffic, and who might be expected to look with delight upon the prospect of a sea voyage and its attendant leisure and entertainment.

The supposition that an increasing number of vacationers yearn for a more relaxed—and perhaps more romantic—mode of travel, and find it within their means in today's circumstances, appears to be borne out by an article on winter cruising in the Canadian Pacific Railway's magazine Spanner, which reports that "the growing success and growing demand for cruising has attracted the attention of the shipping industry. Competition to capture cruise passengers has increased by leaps and bounds."

One cannot imagine, of course, that winter cruising between San Francisco and Victoria would be popular. But perhaps the day has come when a service in the warmer and calmer months would be well received and profitable, and possibly the cruise ships could be kept busy running southward from San Francisco in the winter.

No matter how you slice it . . .

Majority in Centre in France

A Policy of Divide and Rule

By WILLIAM MILLINSHIP, from Paris

TO foreigners, France has appeared in a state of chaos for five centuries." With this sweeping summing up, the high French official showed me out of his vast office, where he had just spent an hour analyzing the chances of a new right-wing coup against the Gaullist regime.

To resist it effectively, he explained, the government has to keep the at present inert, a political mass of the country uncontaminated by the opposite extremes. It did not matter whether these people went off to winter sports regardless of any crisis that might be brewing. What had to be avoided at all costs was a clear division of the country into Fascists and anti-Fascists which would ultimately benefit the Communists.

The government's policy is to keep the country split into three, with the majority in the centre. This explained the decision, still being bitterly criticized in such moderate newspapers as the independent Le Monde, to ban and break up the anti-Fascist demonstration in Paris on December 19. Since the Communist Party was involved the demonstration had to be smashed. Otherwise, the tranquil Centre which the official estimated at 36 million out of a total population of 46 million) might have been frightened by the Communist peril into the arms of the extreme Right.

Neither of the extremes, he said, was in fact dangerous in itself. The Communist Party leadership was old, cautious and unaggressive. "We know immediately when the party leaders meet, and what is said." But the Communist Party, nevertheless, still had the power to frighten the Centre. It might deliberately act as a scarecrow to provoke a right-wing and military coup in the expectation of monopolizing the opposition and winning the second decisive round.

The extreme Right, represented by the Secret Army Organization (OAS) was strong in Algeria but weak in France.

In Algeria the OAS infrastructure was the whole of the European population "with a few honorable exceptions." There, two forms of nationalism were fighting for control of the country. The Europeans were, in fact, no more French than the Canadians were British, the official said, but they were heavily outnumbered by the Muslim nationalists, and therefore require French aid. For years France had provided the money and men to protect them. The settlers' fury was now provoked by the discovery that France's interests did not coincide with theirs.

* * *

In France itself the OAS had few active supporters. These were recruited almost invariably from three social groups which were struggling against the "technical revolution" that was transforming France from the most industrialized of agricultural countries into a leading industrial country in her own right. The largest group was the farmers, and they were a special case. The other two were the small shopkeepers (forming the bulk of the anti-tax, right-wing Poujadist movement) and the declining professional classes.

Most of the OAS plastic bomb terrorists, said the official, came from these three groups, which had been "the traditional counter-revolutionaries since the 1930s." It was not possible to smash the terrorist organization completely, and he compared the OAS with the IRA (Irish Republican Army) although the IRA had never committed as many bomb outrages in London as the OAS in Paris in the past year.

The danger was, continued the official, that the OAS might win the support of the Centre or of the Army, or of both. He estimated that only about 10 per cent of the officer corps were right-wing "activists." A rather higher proportion was loyal to the government, while the rest were more concerned with their careers than with politics.

In case of a revolt, he did not see a serious immediate danger from the French forces in Europe, although many suspect officers have recently been posted from Algeria to France and Germany. The two divisions in Germany, he thought, were too far away. It would be difficult for them to move on Paris. The para troop units in the southwest of France were also far away, and had no effective transport. At worst they might seize control of the southwest, but what then?

* * *

The two divisions withdrawn from Algeria after the April putsch were more dangerous, especially the mainly parachutist division stationed around Metz in eastern France.

The argument seemed to be, however, that provided the government did not accept Communist support, army intervention against General de Gaulle could be avoided. But if the military units marched on Paris there would be little to stop them. The official said there were 62,000 gendarmes and 14,000 riot police (CRS) in France, Algeria and overseas territories. The gendarmes, contrary to general belief, were more politically reliable than the CRS, but neither was trained to fight a military action.

"If it came to a battle the police would be rapidly eliminated."

In any case there is an unwritten law that uniform does not fight uniform.

It was largely for this reason that the government had appealed to the civilian population when there seemed a danger of an invasion by paratroopers from Algiers last April. At that time the government cleverly avoided giving the impression of accepting the support of the Communist party and so sidestepped the risk of dividing the country into two hostile blocs. But the crisis then lasted only four days. It would be more difficult if a putsch lasted a fortnight, the official admitted.

* * *

If General de Gaulle died, then he had no doubt that the army would take power. It would probably eliminate the OAS, but the Algerian problem would become insoluble. "And I dread to think what kind of regime would emerge."

The conversation confirmed how dangerously dependent France remained on the life of one man, and how dependent that man is on the support of the army. It brought him back to power in 1958, and it is still the key to any future political crisis. This, rather than the fear of upsetting an amorphous Centre, explains General de Gaulle's policy of striking alternately at Right and at Left. It explains the suppression of the anti-Fascist demonstration, and the continued seizure of left-wing newspapers.

Report From Ottawa

Canada and India

By ARTHUR BLAKELY

LONG before the invasion of Goa occurred, a number of prominent Americans in and about Congress made no secret of the misgivings with which they viewed the hundreds of millions of dollars in U.S. aid being lavished on India.

India's neutralist position was disliked and misunderstood. And her plague-on-both-your-houses approach to many international questions was a cause of acute irritation.

There has been a feeling in a good many quarters that U.S. aid should be extended to India, politically unreliable, at best only after the interests of genuine friendly states had been consulted.

The Kennedy and Eisenhower administrations haven't subscribed to this proposition. But each, in its time, has had to bear in mind that many responsible Americans do.

Since the invasion of Goa, of course, this view has gained many more adherents. The use of armed force by a nation which had always made such a point of condemning armed aggression in any and every form when perpetrated by others, has placed India in an exposed position.

In the circumstances, it is scarcely surprising that Senator Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, Republican leader in the Senate, should now question the continuance of "carte blanche" aid to a country that "does not comport in its foreign policy with the spirit, not to mention the letter, of the United Nations." The invasion of Goa itself, Senator Dirksen views, he has disclosed, "with a good many serious misgivings." And this is probably an understatement of truly magnificent proportions.

* * *

In official quarters here in Ottawa, parliamentarians have long taken a more charitable view of India and her particular brand of neutralism. One reason for this is that Canada, as a middle-class power, has not been on the receiving end of India's neutralist criticism. Another explanation, unquestionably, is the strong Commonwealth ties which draw India and Canada together.

But over and above such considerations has been the fact that in all Canadian political parties of major importance, there has been a deep-rooted conviction that India is the greatest single stabilizing force in the Far East—that should anything happen to India, Communist China's expansionist plans would be fulfilled within a short space of time.

Canadian aid to India, supplied on a fairly substantial scale through the Colombo Plan has encountered remarkably little criticism in Canada even at times when economic conditions in Canada were unfavorable.

Canadian criticism of India probably reached a peak during the Suez Crisis, when India's criticism of Britain and France seemed to be couched in blunter language than that which Indian spokesmen applied to armed Russian intervention in Hungary.

The invasion of Goa has produced, for the first time, a demand that Canada review her Indian aid program in the light of international events.

* * *

Shortly before Christmas a group of anti-Communist "Freedom Fighters" representing refugees from 19 Iron Curtain states were received by Prime Minister Diefenbaker. Spokesmen for the group, which claims to have a large following within Canada's foreign-born section of the population, pointed to the substantial assistance Canada had given India in the past.

"If Prime Minister Nehru does not want to stand with us, and insists on acting as a neutralist, then why did he attack a member of NATO in the military action taking over Goa and the other Portuguese enclaves in India?" one of them asked.

He attacked Mr. Nehru as a "hypocrite" and urged that aid to India be curtailed or ended altogether.

The group warned of "growing dissatisfaction" among New Canadians over Canada's failure to brand India and aggressor when Indian aggression was an accomplished fact.

* * *

The government hasn't the slightest intention of cutting down on Canada's economic assistance program as far as India is concerned.

No one, in or out of the government, can be quite sure how many New Canadians this particular group of anti-Communist Freedom Fighters is entitled to speak for. It may be significant, however, that Conservative MP Fred Stinson (York Centre) found it desirable to accompany the group to Ottawa.

In any event, it is evident that New Canadians are becoming restive about aid to India and that it will be more difficult for Canadian governments to justify this assistance in future than it was before the Goa episode occurred.

Jet-Age Guides

By GREGORY CLARK

FIELD guides, small compact books that will easily fit in a suit coat pocket, have long been familiar to those interested in natural history.

Indeed, most of us partial to the hobbies of bird-watching, botany, pond life, or who have the kind of curiosity that demands to know the names of trees, the identity of rocks and minerals, the romantic lives of mice, salamanders, moose or snails, would be helpless without the field guides wonderfully prepared in the past few years by scientists with a sense of the popular.

But something new and startling has just been produced.

It is "A Colored Key to the Wildfowl of the World," a small, pocket-size book by Peter Scott, son of the famous Scott of the Antarctic, and an, if not the, outstanding authority on the ducks and geese of the world. The little book contains colored illustrations of every known duck and goose on earth.

* * *

What is startling about this? Just that the jet age has arrived in the bird-watching and publishing world. Now that we can skip from Canada to India or Australia in a matter of hours, it is not enough that there be regional pocket guides. No, sir! We've got to have a little book that covers the whole show.

Another British ornithologist, James Fisher, told me a month ago that he is bringing out a world guide to the sea birds. Pocket size. Handy for jet travel. The bird-watchers are hep to our time.

Space Men and Wild Turkeys

Future and Past Together

By CYRIL DUNN, from New York

MOST people who drive these days from Orlando ("The City Beautiful") down the long straight road to the Florida coast at Cape Canaveral probably talk about Colonel John Glenn of the U.S. Marine Corps and his impending orbital flight round the globe. But the man who took me this way a few days ago talked mainly about the wild turkey that inhabits the palmetto scrub on either side of the highway and the tricks of hunting it.

Obviously, the people who live, as this man does, within easy reach of the great rocket-launching base at the Cape cannot be thinking about it all the time. But the fact seems to be that there is a wide stratum of life in this part of Florida, both wild and human, still remarkably undisturbed by sensational events which have made the neighborhood world-famous.

* * *

Nothing surprises the inquiring stranger more than the discovery that Florida is a most peculiar mixture of extreme sophistication and something very close to aboriginal survival. In the days before the Space Age, for most people Florida meant Miami Beach, that richly endowed playground of millionaires.

Yet not very far from its towering hotels some of the Seminole Indians still follow their old way of life in swampland villages, convinced of their absolute sovereignty because the Americans never defeated them in what the local guidebook calls a series of bloody little nuisance wars.

In the Cape Canaveral area this co-existence of past and present is not so sharply dramatic, but it is there all the same. What survived is the old natural order, probably because the local topography of sea lagoons and sandbars has not encouraged human penetration. But now, of course, thousands of Americans have moved in and made this the base for the most advanced of all their technological arts. Yet so far no creature of the local wild seems to have taken fright and left.

* * *

The wild turkey is an interesting case in point, if only because its desires and those of Colonel Glenn are so precisely opposite. The colonel aims at the most daring flight ever made by an American. The turkey has wings yet rarely tries to fly. My driver told me that "every once in a while one of 'em goes radical and takes off," but generally they prefer to keep their awkward bulk cunningly hidden by the scrub and fall to the hunter's gun only because they keep popping their heads up to see where they are.

Cape Canaveral is, in fact, unique in the natural history of America. Every year at this time the Audubon Society takes a census of birds throughout the nation. Last year more varieties were counted in the Canaveral region than anywhere else and a dedicated bird watcher to whom I spoke seemed quite confident that this distinction would be retained.

"It has been established that the birds of Canaveral are difficult to scare. Only direct assault, clearly intended for them, can induce them to move. And even then they come back when the danger is over.

The Cape is justly celebrated for its pelicans. Those who watch their television screens closely when Colonel Glenn blasts off will almost certainly see a squadron of them cross the line of vision on a different and slower trajectory. For in a sea lagoon right behind the rocket range lies Pelican Island, to which all the pelicans along the American East Coast have resorted for generations past in the breeding season.

The reckless indifference of their natural neighbors has sometimes worried the Missilemen themselves. When any major rocket is blasted off its pad the noise, flames, smoke and shock waves are usually considerable. Two months ago the Missilemen were all set to test-fire a Saturn, the biggest of them all, with a launching thrust of 1,500,000 pounds.

A group of roseate spoonbills chose this of all times to settle on a small lake close up against the Saturn pad. The Missilemen were in fact using the lake as a water supply for the Saturn operation. But in the roseate spoonbills' book this was the best lunch counter on the coast, uncommonly well stocked with small fish and other delicacies. This type of spoonbill is a pretty rare bird, with only two other known feeding grounds in all Florida. Fearing a bad press if this group got blasted out of existence, the launchers called up my bird-watching friend and asked him to persuade the spoonbills to leave for a while.

He and some comrades gathered an orchestra of ash-can lids and handbells and prepared to move in. But then it occurred to the Missilemen that while saving the spoonbills they might obliterate the local branch of the Audubon Society. So, shortly before Saturn was due to leave the pad, they sent a body of security men in the lake in jeeps equipped with sirens and so scared the spoonbills off. But in a matter of days they were back again.

* * *

Some of the Cape's wild creatures are positive allies of the Missilemen. The Cape is surrounded by guards to keep the curious public out. But still more effective than these alert old cops are the hundreds of rattlesnakes in the scrub round the pads. It is bruited abroad at the Cape that the scrub also harbors an old panther, but sceptics dismiss this as propaganda directed at people not afraid of snakes.

There are, of course, residents of the Cape region for whom nothing counts except the rocket base and the Earth Station it will become when America starts shooting for the moon. But there are others, like my friend who hunts the wild turkey, who still cling to the old joys. Most of the townships are cashing in, advertising themselves as "Spaceport, U.S.A." and "Missileland."

But Cocoa, one of the oldest towns in the district, still prefers to be known and not one imagines, very widely—as the Sea Trout Capital of the World.

It is endearing to discover, even in this mild boast a slight deception.

The "sea trout" in question is properly called the spotted weakfish. But who could blame a community for not wishing to be advertised as the Spotted Weakfish Capital of The World? And somehow it is comforting to have this evidence that man can reach almost arrogantly into the future without altogether discarding the simpocities of the past.

Letters to the Editor

Spirits Lifted

I listened to the superb speech of Queen Elizabeth. I am indebted to Rev. Thomas Bailey for his "Too Cynical," including his reprint of Archbishop Ramsey's sermon in Canterbury Cathedral on Christmas Day.

I have just read the editorial in the Colonist, "A Strange Message," a copy of which should be sent to every newspaper in the British Isles, since it contains truth stated to perfection in the highest possible degree. I feel nothing has been left out that required so much to be publicly said.

It has lifted my own spirits, since I have been thinking so much of what those islands have had to endure just now, something not arranged by man.

Let those countries who harbor false glory of self, fight among themselves only, instead of exchanging empty New Year greetings, or have a change of heart, and exercise their craniums still further in the cause of peace.

Uninspected Meat Can Be Sold Here

Uninspected meat may be sold legally in Victoria.

An official of the B.C. agriculture department said Friday this city was not included in the nine provincial centres which have bylaws prohibiting the sale of uninspected meat.

He also said only 13 of some 90 slaughter houses in B.C. are checked by government inspectors.

"There is no guarantee on what type of meat is coming from the uninspected slaughter houses," the spokesman stated.

He added, however nearly all of the uninspected abattoirs are small firms that supply meat to local outlets in country areas and some are checked by local sanitation inspectors for general cleanliness.

"But those inspectors wouldn't know what type of animal was being slaughtered," the official pointed out.

Only about 10 per cent of the meat consumed in the province comes from these 80 small slaughter houses.

Actually about 60 per cent of the meat eaten in B.C. originates in prairie abattoirs which are federally inspected and the other 40 per cent comes from B.C. Most of the B.C. produced meat is handled by four large Vancouver packinghouses which are federally inspected and the nine B.C. inspected slaughter houses in the Fraser Valley and Prince George.

All chain stores in B.C. sell only inspected and graded meat, the official said.

The nine B.C. communities with bylaws that make the sale of uninspected meat illegal are Vancouver, New Westminster, Burnaby, West Vancouver, North Vancouver, Penticton, Kamloops, Prince George and Salmon Arm.

Ottawa Tells Canada

'No Need for Alarm'

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister Monteith said Friday sale of meat unfit for human consumption has been brought under control and there is no need for public alarm.

"There is no reason for citizens to be unduly disturbed about this situation," he said. "There need be no cause for worry at all where people buy government inspected meat."

Five Ottawa area butchers appeared in court Friday charged in connection with such sales. Another nine persons, including a veterinarian, were arrested in Ontario Thursday.

NOTHING DONE?

Mr. Monteith commented on a statement by Mrs. A. F. W. Plumptre, president of the Canadian Association of Consumers.

She said Mr. Monteith was asked to stop illegal meat sales but a year later "no action had been taken." By "no action," she meant "no prosecution."

SLOWED DOWN

She understood an investigation was started after the original complaint, but later "the investigation was definitely slowed down."

Mr. Monteith said "there was never any slowing down in the investigation from the time it started." A great deal of continuous police work was done before charges were laid.

Avenger Jailed

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—William Cox, 18, who admitted he beat 69-year-old crippled Frederick Kressman because of a 13-year-old grudge, was sentenced Friday to 18 months in prison. Cox told the court Kressman had beaten up his mother 13 years ago, blackening her eyes.

Business Research Getting Federal Help

OTTAWA (CP)—A federally-sponsored plan to help encourage an increased level of industrial research in Canada will be announced in the throne speech at the opening of Parliament Jan. 18, it was learned Friday.

The government is expected to provide upwards of $1,000,000 in the 1962-63 fiscal year to help private industry pay the cost of basic long-term research, perhaps totalling $10,008,000 over a period of years.

The National Research Council will select industries which will receive assistance.

The assistance program will be tied in with the duties of the newly-appointed NRC industrial advisory committee made up of representatives of top management and government scientists.

This 11-member committee has been appointed to bring about a closer liaison between top management and federal research scientists.

'Saviour' Tamed

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — William Doty, 18, barricaded himself on the second floor of a home yesterday and shot it out with police with a shotgun and rifle, shouting: "I am the saviour."

Two police officers and a doctor suffered minor wounds during the two-hour siege. Police subdued Doty by firing tear gas shells into the home.

Lord Fisher—

Way to Wisdom —Don't Shout

LONDON (UPI) — Lord Fisher Friday broke his public silence since his retirement as Archbishop of Canterbury last June.

In a lecture before 2,000 school children, he said the way to wisdom lies in never shouting and never answering back.

On this score, he said, the Soviet premier "shouts far louder and answers back at far greater length" than most people.

TERRIBLE ERROR

"If I have criticism of the Western powers, it is that they have fallen into the terrible error of answering back at equal length," said Lord Fisher.

"That does no good to anybody. And if you get to the stage of merely answering back on one side or the other, you are not making any progress at all."

NO WORLD CHURCH

"I've no use for world government. I've no use for a world police force. I abominate a world language. I don't like world coinage. I intensely dislike a world church if it means domination."

Troubled Hospital Acts

MONTREAL (UPI) — Jean Ostiguy, a Montreal stock broker, Friday was elected chairman of the board of the Jean Talon Hospital, succeeding Dr. George Hart who resigned last week following an inquiry into the hospital's affairs.

Ulric Roberge, president of the Banque Canadien-Nationale, was elected a member of the corporation and board. Robert Major, an insurance broker, was named vice-chairman.

Rules of Court Not for BCE?

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Electric Friday claimed exemption from the rules of court which would require it to reveal pertinent documents to former shareholders who have challenged the validity of its expropriation.

But the company's counsel, C. W. Brazier, offered to reveal some of the requested documents voluntarily to the B.C. Power Corp. which has launched the suit.

Douglas McK. Brown, counsel for the power corporation, which owned all common shares in the company when it was expropriated last August, described the offer as "wholly worthless." He asked for a court order requiring production of all relevant documents.

Mr. Justice A. E. Lord reserved his decision.

LEGAL BATTLE

The two-day hearing in B.C. Supreme Court chambers was a "preliminary skirmish in what is expected to be a drawn-out legal battle over expropriation of the huge utility.

The application for discovery of documents was the first of several proceedings to be conducted in chambers preparatory to the trial, scheduled to start March 13.

RULES OF COURT

The company raised its defence of Crown immunity and said it is not bound to conform to the rules of court.

Mr. Brown, in pressing for production of the B.C. Electric documents, said that what is being sued is not the Crown but an electric company which says it is the Crown.

BCE WAS FORCED

"The fact that the B.C. Electric was forced to become an instrument of the government does not make it a government department," he continued.

"There is no doubt it is a commercial corporation operating as a trading company like any other B.C. concern."

UBC Faculty Seeks Raise

VANCOUVER (CP) — University of British Columbia professors want a salary increase this year.

The professors, in a faculty association brief to the board of governors made known Thursday, want mid-point salaries jumped $1,500 a year for professors, $1,000 for associate professors and $500 for assistant professors.

UBC professors do not have a set salary scale. There is a minimum for each rank and increases are based on merit.

Unusual Charge Dismissed Here

Failure of the prosecution to prove there had been a traffic violation resulted in dismissal of an unusual charge in city police court yesterday.

Jane Pearsall, 1224 Pembroke, was charged under Section 68 of the Motor Vehicle Act which states the owner of a car is liable for any traffic infraction occasioned by any person, known or unknown, using the car.

ONUS ON OWNER

The onus lies on the owner of the car to prove he or she did not do the misdemeanor or infraction, nor did any one to whom the car had been loaned by the owner.

Without commenting on Mrs. Pearsall's responsibility, Magistrate William Ostler dismissed the charge because city prosecutor Angus Smith had failed to prove a traffic violation.

Police were unable to find any person who would admit being the driver of Mrs. Pearsall's car, found straddling a traffic island at the Fountain Circle intersection about 11:40 p.m. Nov. 9.

ONLY PERSON

Only person in the vehicle at the time police arrived was Douglas Pearsall, 1255 Hastings, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Pearsall.

Mr. Pearsall was called as a prosecution witness but told the court he did not know how he came to be in the car. He said he had been drinking before the accident and had no clear recollection.

* * *

Magistrate Ostler dismissed a car theft charge against Alfred George of the Songhees Reserve because George was drunk at the time, the car was of similar color to his own and parked in the same general direction and George's ignition key fitted the strange car.

* * *

An early trial was sought yesterday by Milton King, former city real estate salesman, who faces nine charges of theft by conversion.

Defence counsel David Hummel told Magistrate William Ostler his client was without appreciable means of support and asked the case be heard at an early date.

"I am almost certain the plea will be not guilty," he said.

* * *

A charge of careless driving against PPCLI soldier Karl-Heinz Harck, laid after a traffic accident Oct. 31 in which a veteran city police officer was seriously injured, has been remanded to March 1.

City prosecutor Angus Smith said in city police court yesterday it will be some two months before Sgt. Stanley Holmes is able to appear in court as a witness.

Craigmont Neighbor Goes Wild

TORONTO (CP) — What began as a routine day on the stock market erupted suddenly with speculative action as a little-known B.C. mine issue vaulted almost $1 in price.

Tormont mines opened at 38 cents but shortly before noon it spiralled to $1.30 on rumors of a drill-hole find at its property adjacent to Craigmont mines in British Columbia's Merritt area.

The stock settled back to close at 79 cents, up 41, on a turnover of 2,304,224 shares.

The remainder of the market went into a tailspin, as steels, which showed strength recently, fell abruptly. Steel Company of Canada tumbled 1¼. Dominion Foundries and Steel one point, and Atlas Steel ¾.

Oils and pipelines were also down. BA Oil lost ½, Imperial ⅝ and Texaco ½, while Interprovincial Pipeline dropped ⅛ and Alberta Gas Trunk A ⅝.

Gains were few and far between. Canadian Breweries advanced ⅝, Consumers' Gas ⅛ and Price Brothers ⅛.

In base metals, Falconbridge lost 1¼, Ventures ⅛ and International Nickel ⅜.

Western oils were hit by losses to Calgary and Edmonton, Dome and Home B, all off in a ⅜ to ⅝ range.

Stocks Nosedive

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks took an abrupt nose-dive after three days of steadily rising prices.

Banks were the only section to gain, while western oils were firm.

Steico fell 1⅜ to 79½ to lead the decline. Molson B dropped ⅝ to 31⅝. Molson A fell ½ to 30⅝ and Seagrams dropped ⅜ to 45 in a sagging beverages section.

Base metals were lower. Consolidated Smelters fell ⅝ to 24⅝, Canadian British Aluminium A dropped ½ to 10⅛ and Aluminium at 28⅜ and Hudson Bay at 4⅞ each fell ⅜.

B.A. Oil was off ½ to 37 and Imperial Oil fell ½ to 52 among oils. Texaco dropped ⅝ to 58⅝.

Home B added ⅛ to 13⅜ and Pacific Pete rose ⅛ to 15⅛ among western oils.

In mines, Quebec Cobalt rose 15 cents to $5.75 and Hollinger added ¼ to 25.

Selloff at N.Y.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Invasion reports from Asia sent stock prices tumbling in the broadest decline since Sept. 25.

The decline picked up momentum when reports hit Wall Street that Communist Chinese troops had crossed through Laos and invaded South Viet Nam.

The news triggered a widespread selloff extending losses in many issues and cutting the gains of others. The pace of trading quickened on the decline and at the close the stock tape was nine minutes late.

Blue chip industrials were heavy losers despite a recovery attempt near the bell. Du Pont fell 6⅛, Eastman Kodak 2, General Electric 1⅝, Owens-Illinois Glass a point, Woolworth 2, American Telephone and Jersey, Standard 1⅛.

Glowing production forecasts failed to help the members of the auto group where losses ran to 1⅞ in General Motors and 2⅛ in Ford.

Westcoast Gains

VANCOUVER — Westcoast Transmission continued its advance with the common at $21¾ and the voting trust at $19⅝. Centennial Mortgage swept ahead to 3.40 and B.C. Power added another fraction at $15⅛. Trans Mountain was strong at $14⅞ after trading at $15.

Bethlehem went to 1.50 among coppers but Grandur was easier at 3.75. Coast Copper was up 30 cents at 4.95.

Oils were firm.

Profits Rise Sharply

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The before-tax profits of Canadian corporations in the third quarter of 1961 rose sharply to provide concrete evidence of the nation's business upturn in the latter part of last year.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics says the corporation profits total in the third quarter, on a seasonally-adjusted basis, was $888,000,000.

This was 10.4 per cent higher than in both the 1961 second quarter and the third quarter of 1960, when the before-tax profits in each case were $804,000,000.

NO DECREASE

Profits from manufacturing were up 10.2 per cent at $394,000,000 from $360,000,000 in the second quarter.

No manufacturing group showed a decrease. One of the biggest gains was in petroleum and coal products which were up $7,000,000 at $31,000,000, while iron ore profits rose $4,000,000 to $86,000,000. Paper products were up $4,000,000, electrical equipment up $6,000,000, wood products up $3,000,000 and food and beverages up $5,000,000.

Trans-Mountain Oil Pipe Line delivered an average of 156,452 barrels of oil a day during 1961, according to a year-end statement by the company.

This was a sharp advance from the 1960 average throughput of 133,143 barrels a day.

In December Trans-Mountain delivered 185,973 barrels a day and for January the schedule is to deliver 210,000 barrels.

RETURN TO FOLD

Standard Oil of B.C. is getting back into the oil exploration business in Canada after being out of that phase of the business since 1943.

Since then the California Standard Co. has handled the company's exploration and production in Canada.

Standard Oil of B.C. has a 30,000 barrel modern refinery at Burnaby and in recent years all its crude has been supplied from Alberta wells.

Now, says its president, Ralph Baker, B.C. Standard will use a substantial part of its intake from B.C. crude oil brought to Vancouver first by the new Western Pacific Products Pipeline and then from Kamloops by Trans-Mountain Oil Pipe Line.

American Exchange Flayed by Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Stock Exchange was accused by federal investigators Friday of permitting "manifold and prolonged abuses" of laws and rules designed to protect the investing public.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, capping a seven-month investigation of the second-largest stock exchange in the United States, issued a report which contended the exchange has been dominated by a four-man oligarchy.

It said the dominant group has included Joseph F. Reilly who currently heads the exchange. A broad sampling of exchange members—and even the SEC itself—came in for sharp criticism in what was perhaps the most explosive report ever issued by the 27-year-old commission.

At a press conference, Milton H. Cohen, director of the probe, indicated the SEC will take action against some of those cited a responsible for alleged abuses.

There is "certainly some possibility of action," Cohen said against Gilligan, Will and Company, whose activities occupied many pages of the report.

The report noted that some or all the questioned activities were "not unique" to Gilligan, Will and Company, but Cohen declined to speculate whether the probe to date would result in a whole series of SEC actions.

Courtaulds Reject Bid

LONDON (AP) — Courtaulds Ltd., internationally known manufacturer of synthetic fibres, has turned down a £180,000,000 take-over bid from Imperial Chemical Industries, biggest firm in the Commonwealth.

A statement said that after a preliminary study of the offer had been made by financial advisers, the directors felt unable to recommend acceptance by their stockholders.

However, they appreciated the need for strengthening the man-made fibre industry and had made counter proposals to ICI for discussion. They did not disclose them.

The only immediate reaction from the giant ICI was that its board would meet Monday to consider the Courtaulds statement and then would make a statement of its own.

Lumber Sales Show Gains

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lumber shipments from the coastal area of British Columbia increased five per cent to 2,200,000,000 board feet in the 11-month period ended Nov. 30, the B.C. Lumber manufacturers Association reports.

The increase was largely accounted for by waterborne shipments from B.C. ports which were more than 1,600,000,000 board feet, compared with 1,300,000,000 board feet in the same period of 1960.

Export shipments declined slightly but this was more than offset by increased domestic demand, particularly on the U.S. Atlantic seaboard. Export shipments at 787,500,000 board feet were down 16,600,000 board feet.

Garden Notes

Keep Work on Ice

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

This is the season of the year when a crackling log fire in the fireplace, a comfortable easy chair and a pile of new seed and nursery catalogues offers considerably more attraction than the outdoor garden. Nevertheless, there are jobs to be done outside and, by getting the back of the work broken now, a lot of the pressure is relieved when spring work begins in earnest.

Mind you, there isn't much in the way of outdoor work which can be accomplished when it is raining, nor when the garden is a sea of soggy mud, but we do get the occasional frosty period when the ground hardens and there are quite a few odd jobs which can be done then.

* * *

Barrowing and spreading manure, for instance, can be quite invigorating in cold weather, and about the only good time to get this essential chore done is during those brief periods when the ground is hard enough to bear up under the weight of the wheelbarrow without the wheel—and your feet—getting clogged with great gobs of sticky mud.

Another job I like to "keep on ice" until a spell of frosty weather comes along is whacking off the long grass and weeds from the ditch out in front of the house and in the wilder parts of the garden where we don't use the lawn mower. Whether you use a proper sickle or one of those scythe-like gadgets built like a golf club, the long grass cuts clean and short and with a soul-satisfying swish when it is stiff and rigid with frost.

* * *

Almost every garden book you pick up issues solemn warnings against digging over the garden plot when frost is in the soil. For my money this is a lot of poppycock and probably one of those superstitutions which have been passed on from one garden writer to another without anyone ever having a go at it to see what happens.

In our part of the country, where frost seldom penetrates deeper than an inch or so, the crust offers very little opposition to the spade and the job is cleaner and goes much better than in any other time of the winter. For one thing, you don't pick up great clods of mud on your feet; for another, you are exposing a fresh surface of soil to the beneficial weathering action of the frost. The old bugaboo about the ill effect of burying frozen slabs of soil just doesn't work out that way—even in heavy ground, the soil will warm up as early or earlier than in unworked plots.

The fashionable footwear for these winter chores is the rubber gumboot—the kind you can kick off on the back porch before entering the house. These are rather cold on the feet with ordinary socks and, while a pair of heavy, long woolen lumberjack's socks will keep you warm enough, the coarse wool can be terribly scratchy and itchy on the skin.

* * *

I get over this problem by pulling on a pair of my lightweight summer socks first—nylon preferred—then the long, coarse work socks, and finally the rubber boots. This keeps my feet as warm as toast without any of the irritation.

Incidentally, if your rubber boots spring a leak, it is an easy matter nowadays to make home repairs with a tube of plastic rubber available at the fire-and-tea and some supermarkets. I have the habit of turning down the tops of my knee-length boots, wearing them like the floppy cavalier boots of Cromwell's Roundheads, and they cracked rather badly at the bend. The tube of plastic rubber made a neat and flexible repair, stronger than the original material.

Big Guys Getting Even

PARIS—Recently the world judo championships, which were held in Paris, dashed one of the most popular conceptions of this increasingly popular sport: that is, that a little guy could beat a big guy. It turns out that it just isn't true anymore. Even in judo, a good big guy can beat a good little guy, and that should be good news for good big guys everywhere.

For years, thanks to judo, good big guys have been afraid of good little guys, because the big guys were told the little guys could use the big guys' own weight to defeat them. When a little guy walked into a bar, the big guys edged away from him in fear that the little guy would start an argument.

Little guys used to steal girls away from big guys because the big guys were afraid if they protested they'd get their arms broken. The more popular judo became, the more belligerent the little guys became.

* * *

In Paris, for example, where the sport has been very popular, the most frightening thing to see was an argument over a traffic accident in which a little guy and a big guy were involved. The little guy would jump out of his automobile, and when the big guy saw how little the little guy was, he would cringe in his seat and shake with terror.

* * *

That's the way it's been for years. But last weekend changed all this. A big guy, a six-foot-seven, 240-pound Dutchman named Anton Geesink, won the world judo championship, defeating the best Japanese and Korean stars and dramatically, in one flip, changing the entire principle of judo. He proved conclusively that a big guy can still beat a little guy at his own game, and it's a warning to all little guys to leave us big guys alone.

Judo as a sport is quite different from judo as a form of defence usually taught to girls who have to walk home late at night by themselves.

* * *

The philosophy of the sport is not to attack your opponent, but to let him make the move that you can take advantage of. For years a man's weight worked against him because no one thought a big guy had the reflexes of a little guy, and reflexes are what count. In fact, big guys avoided the sport because they were afraid of being made fools of by little guys (or women who walked home late at night).

* * *

But a few years ago, by accident, a big guy in Japan was goaded into a match with a little guy, and by sheer power tossed him across the room. When other big guys heard about this they all rushed to learn the sport.

A tearful little guy, a judo expert, whom we interviewed after the championship match, said: "We knew it would happen sooner or later. We knew big guys with power and technique could beat little guys, but they didn't know it. Now that they've proved it with Geesink, every country is going to start developing judo teams made up of big guys. It was our sport, the only sport the little man excelled in over the big guy, and now that's gone."

We started pushing him around just to see what he would do, but instead of defending himself all he said was, "Why don't you pick on somebody your own size?"

Brando's in Seclusion

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Marlon Brando has remained in seclusion since ex-wife Anna Kashfi bopped him in the courtroom last week. I'm sorry for them both.

* * *

Jimmy Durante and his pretty Marge are looking for a baby brother for their recently adopted Cecilia Alicia.

* * *

Gregory Peck should make around $2,000,000 from his 10 per cent of "Guns of Navarone." Peck, who has never been under exclusive contract to any producer or studio, has made millions in the 17 or 18 years since he came to Hollywood, a gorgeously attractive man. And to show how young he still looks, Greg gets Debbie Reynolds in one of the "How the West was Won" sequences.

* * *

Actress Madlyn Rhue and Bill (Jose Jimenez) Dana are close chanthis.

* * *

And since her selection as best actress of last year by the New York critics, Sophia has sidled into the favorite spot in the Oscar line-up.

* * *

Does scandal hurt a star? Well, Elizabeth Taylor is the No. 1 box-office movie draw and Debbie Reynolds is no longer in the first 15. Doesn't seem right, but there's the figures.

* * *

Sabrina, British star with the impressive vital statistics, now lives in Hollywood. But the producer of the musical version of "Lysistrata" wants her to jog to New York for the title role.

Someone sent me a long telegram from New York telling me that Hugh O'Brian is mobbed every night after his musical "first Love" is. Well, I'm glad Hugh is a hit, even though the play received lukewarm reviews.

* * *

Sophia Loren is wearing a Cleopatra hairdo for her new movie in Paris, "The Third Dimension."

* * *

Gower Champion is looking for three June Havocs for their "Marathon" play. We will see June as a nine-year-old, a teen-ager, and finally in her 20s. They must all look alike, sing, dance and act!

* * *

Now I've seen everything: Meaning the photograph of Brigitte Bardot dressed as a boy! For a TV show in France.

* * *

Greta Garbo is due back in her south of France villa, after a holiday trip to her native Stockholm. Greta spent most of her time in Sweden with the youngest son of the king and his wife.

* * *

It was all so cosy when Joan Collins went to Rome and stayed with Marian Marshall Dewey, who is now being courted by R. J. Wagner, who used to ditto Joan. Miss Collins is in no hrury to return to Hollywood. She would like to make some movies in Italy.

* * *

Times have changed with Tony Franciosa. There was a time—during his marriage to Shelley Winters, when he was a swinging lad—when cameramen and reporters kept a healthy distance. Now, the producer of his recent "Senilita" in Italy writes, "The film industry would be easier if all actors were half as good and disciplined as Mr. Franciosa."

Telefeesh Ayrun A Popular Infant

DUBLIN (Reuters)—Ireland's week-old television service, Telefis Eireann (pronounced telefeesh ayrun) is proving itself a lusty baby.

After a gala opening night Dec. 31, the service settled down to a regular transmission schedule of six hours nightly.

* * *

Of this roughly 24 hours is taken up with home-produced programs—mostly news, sports and discussion. The rest is a mixture of packaged programs, mostly U.S. produced.

Irish viewers have also seen films produced by the National Film Board of Canada and the BBC.

* * *

The radio service, although set up with the aid of a government loan and watched over by a government-appointed board, is a commercial one.

There are no sponsored programs—all advertising is between programs, which rarely last for more than 30 minutes.

There is every indication the Irish are pleased with their new TV service. There has been no serious opposition to the TV receiver licence fee of £4.

TV should prove a boon to the farmers in the remoter parts of Ireland. Sociologists think it will halt the flight to urban areas which has plagued Ireland's economy for the last five decades.

No Alibis for So-So Season

Down from Heights Doesn't Bother Unitas

By OSCAR FRALEY

HOLLYWOOD BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—When you've hit the heights and, while still young and strong, you come back to the field somewhat because of circumstances beyond your control, you might think it would rankle a man.

But Johnny Unitas, still the best quarterback in pro football despite a so-so year, shows no sign of inner distress. Nor does he alibi.

"I'm not satisfied," he said as he played in the National Football League players golf tournament. "But, then, I'd never be satisfied, no matter how well things went. I always feel I should have done better."

Back in 1958 and 1959, when he led the Baltimore Colts to two straight championships in the tough pro league, he was the idol of the Baltimore fans. The first year, the Colts beat the Giants in a "sudden death" playoff. The second, as they won again, Unitas completed a record 32 touchdown passes and set a mark of 3,099 yards gained.

There were nothing but hosannahs for the former University of Louisville star who was cut free by the Pittsburgh Steelers and was playing for $6 a game on the Pittsburgh sandlots when Colt general manager Don Kellett signed him merely by making a telephone call.

But this year, as the Colts floundered, Unitas' record for touchdown passes was tied by the Eagles' Sonny Jurgensen. The Philadelphia passer also broke Unitas' yardage record with a total of 3,723 yards.

And the fans began to get "on" Johnny.

Those who howled overlooked a number of facts. For several years, Unitas and his favorite receiver, Ray Berry, were the most feared passing combination in the game. But Berry had a knee operation before the season started, missed the first two games and couldn't generate his old time dazzling speed.

NO THREATS

The Colt blocking was far below par as the team began to slow down. There were no great running threats to take the heat off Unitas. And Johnny, who formerly could outwait his first and second receivers to hit the long man for the big play, had to get rid of the ball quickly or eat it. The result was, that Berry didn't catch a single touchdown pass.

Then, too, Unitas dislocated a finger on his passing hand and was handicapped for more than a month. He also hurt his arm, and kept it quiet for fear that it would be regarded as an alibi.

"I guess it was simply a matter, in my case, of the defence catching up to the offence," he shrugged off 1961, typically giving credit rather than building up his own trials and tribulations.

But Kellett put his finger on one of the crippling spots when he said, as he, too, swung his way around the golf course, "we'd like to have a big running back."

As to Unitas, labeled by Green Bay Packer coach Vince Lombardi as "the best in the game," Kellett agreed wholeheartedly.

HE'S THE BEST

"If all the quarterbacks were up for trade, who would you take ahead of him? Nobody, that's who. He's the best of them all."

"It's an old cliche," chipped in Otto Graham, once the passing star of the Browns, "but nobody passes while he's sitting on the seat of his pants."

Meaning, as all of them agree, that while Baltimore finished in a third place tie in its division, Johnny U still is the top man in his department.

True, they're still in last place in the southern division of the Western Hockey League, two points behind Los Angeles Blades. But they played the Blades to a 1-1 overtime standoff last night and there were 6,327 paid admissions looking on.

GREAT GAME

The fans saw a rough and tumble encounter and some sparkling goaltending by that old master, Marcel Pelletier, guarding the Los Angeles cage.

Pelletier made 49 saves, 40 of them in regulation time. The only shot to get by him was by Bob Girard at 9.31 of the third period.

Real Chevrefils scored in the first period for Los Angeles.

Calgary Stampeders, apparently under a full head of steam, won their seventh straight game last night in Vancouver, blasting the weakened Vancouver Canucks, 7-3. Big Comeback at Curling Club

Sturrock Rink Upsets Tony Gutoski

By JIM TANG

Tony Gutoski, 1958 provincial champion and several times the Vancouver Island representative in provincial playdowns, should have been ready to represent the Victoria Curling Club in the Island Consols playdowns.

Gutoski and his rink of Gary Leibel, Gordie Robertson and Danny Martel missed qualifying for the Island final at Nanaimo, Jan. 20 and 21, by blowing a 6-2 lead and losing to Ken Sturrock, 8-10, last night in the finals of the club playdowns, which started with 12 rinks competing in a double-knockout series.

Gutoski won four games in a row to win the "A" section while Sturrock became the "B" section winner in last night's early draw by ousting Steve Hayhurst, 11-6.

LINE SHARPNESS

That left Sturrock needing two wins over Gutoski to reach the Island finals but "High-Pockets" and his rink seemed to have lost the sharpness which featured their win over Hayhurst.

Last night's final game was almost decided early. On the third end, with the score at 1-1, Sturrock missed a wide-open takeout for a three and Gutoski stole one to go ahead, 2-1. On the fourth end, Gutoski had shot rock in the back four-foot ring with two rocks in the front ring. A draw seemed in order but Sturrock elected to go after the guarding rock and was again a trifle wide and Gutoski moved into a 5-1 lead.

TOUGH SPOT

Not many rinks can spot Gutoski that kind of a lead and hope to come out on top but Sturrock's crew apparently didn't realize that.

After exchanging singles on the fifth and sixth ends to leave it at 6-2, Sturrock started his comeback with two on the seventh, gave up one to a draw on the eighth and took another pair on the ninth to get to 6-7.

COLD DRAW

By now, Sturrock's rink was outcurling Gutoski, who had to make a cold draw for one on the 10th with three opposition counters in the house to regain his two-up lead.

It wasn't enough. Sturrock picked up two on the 11th to tie and when it came down to one rock each on the home end, Sturrock had a rock partially in the back eight-foot. He put his second in the front ring, leaving Gutoski with a draw to one and needing about six or eight inches of the eight-foot. Gutoski slid one through the house.

The final game is set for tonight at 6.30.

Sturrock and his supporting cast of Laurie Perlette, Ralph Schmidt and Bill Young were sharp all the way against Hayhurst, who complicated matters for himself by being badly off his usual form.

Hayhurst blanked the first end on purpose but the strategy backfired when he was light with two shots on the second end and Sturrock stole three. Two misses by Perlette and one by Sturrock on the sixth end enabled Hayhurst to count four and take a 5-4 lead. But Sturrock threw through on the seventh rather than try for one.

This time, the strategy worked. A miss and a half shot by vice-skip Gar Taylor enabled Sturrock to get the chance for the two he was after and when Hayhurst wrecked with his last rock, Sturrock picked up three for a 7-5 lead.

Hayhurst got one back on the ninth but Sturrock, who was coming up with big shots when they were needed the most, got it back on the 10th when he tapped shot rock with his last rock to count one with Hayhurst laying two.

SPECTACULAR DOUBLE

That left it 8-6 heading into the 11th end, and set up a spectacular, and rather fortunate, double by Sturrock. Hayhurst, laying one in the four-foot ring with an opposition rock tight behind and to the side, drew in perfectly in front of his own to lay two.

Sturrock went after the double but was narrow. However, he had enough weight to clear a rock in front by a whisker and got the double from the inside, stick and lay three. When Hayhurst failed to make the rings with his draw, Sturrock headed home with an insurmountable 11-6 lead.

Tonight's game will leave only two places undecided in the six-rink Island final. The Victoria winner will join Brock Wilson of Nanaimo, Fred Duncan of Duncan and Grant Macdonald of the Comox Valley Curling Club in the finals.

Still to be decided are winners at Esquimalt Municipal Centre and the Alberni Valley Curling Club.

THREE LEFT

At Alberni Valley, three rinks are left in the running in the double-draw knockout. Bill Wood is out to the final in both "A" and "B" sections with Ed Filipchuk and Warren Paul as his opposition. If Wood wins both sides he is it. If he loses one or both games, the winner will be decided in a two-out-of-three final. Two games are scheduled tomorrow with the playoff, if necessary, set for the following Sunday.

At Esquimalt, where some rinks have completed the round-robin series between eight entrants and others have as many as three games left, three rinks are left.

John Clint's RCN rink is standing by with a 5-2 record hoping that both Jack Moir and Wes Young, 4-1 and 3-1, respectively, will lose at least once more in their remaining games. Clint won last night to keep alive, Moir and Young are both scheduled to play in games tonight.

Bakers Play Gorge Again

Bradie's Bakery and Gorge Hotel who played through 30 minutes of overtime to a 2-2 draw last Saturday, meet again today at Royal Athletic Park to try and settle their Jackson Cup soccer semi-final.

Game time is 2 p.m.

Naden Rink Sweeps Spiel

An unheralded rink skipped by LS Doug Amos of HMCS Naden scored the first ever clean sweep in the ninth annual RCN Pacific Command Bonspiel, which came to an end late Thursday evening at the curling rink at Esquimalt Municipal Centre.

With AB Ed Tetreault as vice-skip, LS Gordie McMann at second and LS Denver Collins leading off, Amos won 10 straight games to win both primary events and the Grand Aggregate.

EXTRA END

Amos' rink defeated a quartette skipped by PO Wally Stubbs in the "A" primary and then took a 13-end victory from a rink skipped by Sgt. Gordon McKay in "B" primary to win both the Six Mile House and Yarrows Trophies.

PO Tom Prokopow, LS Bob Bentley and LS Ernie Cormack completed Stubbs' rink, which took a close decision from LS Wes Young in the semi-finals of "A" primary. Amos reached the final in this event by defeating the rink led by PO Walter Fink.

McKay was supported by LCDR Bob Jones, LCDR Laurie Brown and Sgt. Norm Peterson in the "B" primary final. Rinks skipped by Stubbs and CPO Frank Barron were the beaten semi-finalists.

A rink from VU33 at Patricia Bay, skipped by John Tucker and including T. J. Clark, Fred Clarke and Garry Youngson won the "A" secondary event, and the Stocker's Trophy by defeating the rink entered by LS Jack Good. Curling with Good were PO Russ Wilson, PO Mike Zerbak and LS Marler Ellis.

Skip AB Frank Burger, supported by AB John Clint, LS Harry Waznow and LCDR Norm Stewardson won the "B" secondary, and the Victoria Machinery Depot Trophy by outscoring Good's rink. Good had to go to sea on the day of the finals and his rink had to curl without him in both events.

Out of Nowhere

Vikings Return to League To Find Things Tougher

Victoria University Vikings returned to the Esquimalt Commercial Hockey League at the Sports Centre last night and found it a lot tougher than it was when they left.

Vikings, who took a long break for examinations and the holidays, had to scrap for a goal late in the third period to gain a 4-4 tie with last-place Navy before 1,057 fans. In the preliminary game, Esquimalt Chiefs beat Army, 6-1, and cut Vikings' lead to one point.

Navy scored two goals in the second period to tie the game at 3-3, then went ahead at the 15-minute mark of the third on a goal by Art Dunmour.

POWER PLAY

But Navy's Bill McFarland took his third penalty of the period at 15.29, and Lorne Waller scored on the power play 58 seconds later to salvage the tie.

Keith Neiligan, Jack Blair and Stu McFarland got the other goals for Vikings and John Morris, Larry Crossweight and Bob Cummings scored for the Sailors.

The Chiefs had a much easier time of it, taking 36 shots at Army's Ken Villiger. They had a 2-0 lead at the end of the first period, gave up a goal to Bob Larson in the second, and scored four straight in the third.

Dick Couch scored two, and Ben Price, Les Corby, Arnold Elliott and Bob Vining got the others. Vining also had an assist and took over the league lead with 14 points.

UBC Rowers In Training

VANCOUVER (CP) — University of British Columbia oarsmen start working out next week for the British Empire Games.

More than 30 candidates are expected to begin the spartan training program which paid off in gold medals for UBC eights in the last two games.

Coach Laurie West said Friday he has planned a month-by-month schedule which he hopes will lead to another great triumph in the next Empire Games in Australia in November.

A win for UBC this year would be a memorable paragraph in rowing history. No country has ever won three consecutive B.E.G. gold medals in the eights and only England can match UBC's present record of two straight victories.

Stan Musial Wins Honor

The Tris Speaker award is made to a baseball personality who has made major contributions to the game over a period of years.

The Palmer Method

By Arnold Palmer

TWO REASONS FOR SKIED SHOTS
1. GOLFERS WHO SKY THEIR TEE SHOTS SHOULD CHECK THEIR SWINGS FOR TWO SPECIAL ERRORS.
PERHAPS THE PLAYER IS ALLOWING THE CLUB-FACE TO HOOD, OR CLOSE, PRIOR TO BALL CONTACT, CAUSING THE CLUBHEAD TO HIT THE BALL MINUS A COUPLE OF DEGREES OF LOFT. WHITE BALL MARKS WILL SHOW ON TOP OF THE CLUBHEAD.
2. A MORE FAMILIAR REASON IS THAT THE PLAYER IS LOWERING THE ARC OF HIS SWING BY DROPPING HIS RIGHT SHOULDER ON THE DOWNSWING. USUALLY THIS IS CAUSED BY THE GOLFER'S ANXIETY TO HIT THE BALL, HAYBE WITH A LITTLE EXTRA FORCE. THIS WILL CAUSE "FAT" SHOTS—WHEN THE CLUBHEAD HITS THE GROUND BEFORE THE BALL—IN IRON SHOTS.
3. CONCENTRATE ON A SMOOTH SWING, ESPECIALLY DURING THE DOWNSWING, AND IT'S UNLIKELY THAT THE RIGHT SHOULDER WILL DROP.
CHECK YOUR ADDRESS TO SEE THAT THE CLUB-FACE IS NOT CLOSED THERE. PERHAPS IT WOULD BE BEST TO OPEN THE FACE A BIT AT THIS TIME TO COUNTERACT ANY INVOLUNTARY CLOSING LATER. EVENTUALLY, HOWEVER, YOU SHOULD NOT HAVE TO RESORT TO THIS.

Everybody's Holiday Not So Happy

By JIM TAYLOR

It's a shame there wasn't league bowling over the holidays. Especially for 14-year-old Bill Nelson.

Nelson, son of Esquimalt Bowling Alleys proprietor Bert Nelson, came within eight points of the all-time three-game Canadian fivepin record Dec. 23, but won't get any recognition for the effort because it was done in open play.

Nelson was bowling with chum Ken Black and W. Naisby and A. Chambers of the Dockyard League when he put together games of 370, 378 and 435 for a total of 1,184. In that last game he got a spare in the first frame and struck out.

The scoresheet is on display at Esquimalt, signed by the three bowlers who watched Nelson post the score.

Final details have been released for the 22nd annual city handicap tenpin championship tournament at Aurora Lanes.

Team event will be bowled in shifts Feb. 3 at 1 p.m. and Feb. 4 at 11 a.m., 2, 6.30 and 9 p.m. Singles and doubles go Feb. 10 at 1 p.m. and Feb. 11 at 9.45 a.m., 12 noon, and 2, 4, 6.45 and 9 p.m.

* * *

Entry fee is $3 per man per event, with an extra $1 for optional entry in the all-events.

Scratch will be 190, with handicap of 75 per cent based on highest average of last season. Anyone who bowled less than 30 games last season and more than 15 this season as of Jan. 20 uses current average.

Bowlers who did not compete in a league last season and have not bowled 15 games this season by Jan. 20 will have to bowl scratch.

Complete details as to entry are available at Gibson's or Aurora Lanes, and bowlers are urged to get their completed entry forms in early to be sure of the shifts they prefer.

* * *

Roy Kerr and Gary Bishop won the men's event with 1,190 and Marg Cooper and Jimmy John the mixed competition with 1,105 in Gibson's annual doubles tournament. Dave Lee was scratch winner in the 10-game junior marathon with 1,741 and Keith Swetnam took the handicap event with 2,000.

The YMCA has opened a fivepin club at Capital City Lanes for boys, 9-17, Saturday mornings between 11.30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Boys who would like to sign up may do so at the alleys today or by phoning the Y at EV 5-8777.

The Viking basketball team has finally beaten a junior college basketball team from the United States. The amazing feat was accomplished against the Lower Columbia Red Devils last weekend.

It might be expected that this breakthrough would initiate some excitement on the campus but this doesn't seem to be the case. In the first place, the Red Devils are not the type of basketball team to excite anybody.

The Red Devils have placed at or near the bottom of their league standings for the last few years and this year is no exception.

This weekend the Vikings take on a team from Vancouver in a doubleheader and if they can come up with another two wins it may be that they will fulfill the dream of filling the stands with more spectators than the scant 127 who watched what was exciting basketball against Lower Columbia Jr. College.

HOT DUO

The Vikings are still getting top-notch performances from Darrell Lorimer and Barry Sadler who supply a shooting-rebounding team that the Trojans from Everett College had a hard job containing.

It looks as though the other Darryl on the team has finally regained the scoring touch he had at Esquimalt High School. MacIntyre fired in some long shots that helped to keep the defence loose in the second game.

BIG FIGHT

The Viking basketball team has a big fight on from now on for Friday night fans as the hockey team started the second half of their schedule last night.

The hockey club is leading its league in standings and color with Ross Grenier leading the league's scorers, Lorne Waller leading in goals scored, Tom Krall in penalties and Pat Cain in the goals against department.

* * *

Many people have heard of Al Conlan, the big 6-ft. 8-in. player, basketball coach Bill Garner is developing this year. It seems that big Al once made the Victoria High School Teepees in his first year but became discouraged and left the team.

Vikings Beaten

Victoria University Vikings, minus scoring star Darrell Lorimer for the first half, took a 52-37 beating from Kerrisdale Merchants in their exhibition basketball game last night at the Gordon Head gym.

Lorimer could not be at the game until the start of the second half. By that time it was 25-13, and the lanky centre was held to six points the rest of the way.

Mike Penney scored 20 points for the Kerries and Bill Hobbis was high man for Vikings with 11.

There were only 78 fans at the game. The teams play again tonight at 8.30.

Kerrisdale — Walker 6, Penney 20, Brazier 7, Harcourt 7, Woodruff 4, Pettigrew, Ricker 8, McConnell. Total—52.

Vikings—Lorimer 6, Littleton 4, Brice 8, Sadler 2, Hoffman, Conlan, Wyatt 2, McIntyre 2, Hobbis 11, Shaw 2, Wong. Total—37.

Utah Ace With Leos?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Officials of B.C. Lions of the Western Football Conference have declined comment on the reported signing of halfback Tom Larscheid from Utah State University.

Larscheid, an all-American honorable mention last season, said from his Oakland, Calif., home that he has signed with the Lions. Larscheid scored 96 points for Utah last season, including 15 touchdowns.

Bob Goalby Repeats Torrid First Round

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Goalby knocked seven strokes off par Friday for a first round 64 in the $45,000 Los Angeles golf tournament for the second straight year.

The 30-year-old onetime all-round athlete at the University of Illinois toured the Rancho Municipal Golf Club course in 33-31—64, one stroke shy of the tournament and course record.

THREE AHEAD

The score placed him three strokes in front of his nearest competitors in the winter classic — Doug Sanders, Phil Rodgers, Tommy Jacobs and Bob Keller.

Well back at 73 were the two pre-tournament favorites, Gary Player of South Africa and Arnold Palmer.

And even farther back in his first crack at professional tournament play was the newly-turned pro and 1961 national amateur champion, Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio.

EVERY TIME

The 21-year-old Nichlaus scored 38-36—74 and later said: "I don't think I played too bad. I did play sloppy the first six holes but on the last 12 I hit the ball flush on the nose every time."

Four strokes back of Goalby, who won the $7,500 first prize on this same course last year, were five pros—Lionel Hebert, Fred Hawkins, Bud Holscher, Jack McGowan and Frank Wharton.

LEONARD 69

Such familiar tournament names as U.S. open champion Gene Littler, Bob Rosburg, Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Julius Boros were included in the 69 bracket.

The National PGA champion, Jerry Barber, took 72 blows to get around the place this sunny afternoon, while the 73 division was crowded with familiar names. Included were Jay Hebert, Mike Souchak, Billy Casper Jr., as well as Player and Palmer. Also with 73 was Dave Ragan, whose 63 won the pro-celebrity honors Thursday.

Art Wall, Jr., still a gallery favorite here, and Tommy Bolt were in the crowded 72's.

Starting Time Moved Back

Officials of the Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League have changed tonight's starting time at Memorial Arena from 7.30 to 8 p.m. in the hope of avoiding television competition.

Independent Athletic Association plays Port Alberni at 8 and Navy takes on Nanaimo in the feature game at 9.

Officials feel that part of the reason for lagging attendance at Saturday games is competition of the televised National Hockey League games, followed by the fight of the week. By 8, both are over.

The teams return to Memorial Arena Tuesday night, when starting time reverts to 7.30 and Navy plays IAA. Nanaimo takes on Port Alberni in the second game.

Tonight's game between Nanaimo and Navy should give one team an edge in their season-long feud, barring another tie. They played to a 3-5 tie in their first meeting, Nanaimo won the second, 4-3, and Navy took the third, 6-1.

Loggers Still Idle

Bus Talks Rejected

Firm Won't Bargain

DUNCAN — A spokesman for Hillcrest Lumber Co. said last night the firm does not plan to negotiate with the IWA over withdrawal of free transportation for 70 loggers who live in the Duncan area.

For the fourth consecutive morning yesterday the 70 showed up at the bus-route pickup points, waited for buses which were not coming, then went home.

The men are employed by Hillcrest at its Mesachie Lake operations and until last Tuesday received free transportation from points around Duncan to the Hillcrest camp, a distance of 23 miles.

The bus service had been operating for some 20 years and the company last November filed notice it would be suspended.

Hillcrest president Hector Stone confirmed last night that under terms of the firm's contract with the IWA the 70 employees can be deprived of their seniority rights for having missed three consecutive days work without having been granted leave of absence.

"We have not yet decided whether the men will lose their seniority, but they could," Mr. Stone said.

He said absence of the men from their jobs has all but crippled the firm's operations.

The company, he said, is not prepared to negotiate withdrawal of the free transportation service and will not restore it.

Earlier he said the service cost the company $6,000 a year and to the 70 men who used it, it represented a bonus not shared by employees who live around the company's Hillcrest camp.

From the IWA in Duncan yesterday came word that the local's decision to fight the free transportation issue has won the support of B.C. IWA president Joe Morris.

Weldon Jubenville, president of the Duncan local, said if the action of Hillcrest Lumber Co. remains unchallenged the move could affect some 1,100 other Duncan area loggers who also enjoy free transportation services from other companies.

He said the 70 Hillcrest men feel the service was a condition of employment, although it was not covered in the contract.

Another IWA official said that at a recent meeting of the 70 affected loggers they showed "determination and solidarity" in their demands for restoration of the bus service.

Hospital Tax Needed In Final Judgment

REGINA (CP)—A man who claimed he didn't have to pay his hospital-care tax, because he didn't need hospital treatment in 1956, collapsed and died Friday while giving evidence in police court.

Fred Senger, 76, charged with failing to pay his tax, suffered a heart attack.

Daring Theft Stuns Victim

NANAIMO—Thieves shoplifted almost $300 worth of merchandise from a Nanaimo TV shop yesterday.

John McFegan of McFegan TV told RCMP a television set, transistor radio, and portable tape recorder were stolen from the shop between two and 5 p.m. Thursday.

Mr. McFegan said he was "stunned" to learn of the daring robbery.

Chief Halts Gravelling Fears Road Seizure

CAMPBELL RIVER—A department of highways gravelling crew has been ordered off a revenue-producing road through an Indian reservation near here because elders of the Indian band believe acceptance of such aid might alienate control of the thoroughfare.

The road links Campbell River village with Campbell River Spit, site of Painter's Resort and the bases of two airlines.

PAID FEE

The resort and one of the airlines have each been paying the Indian band $100 a year for use of the access route. The third airline, which has not been using the spit for as long, has been paying nothing but is prepared to match the $100 fee.

Recently the Indian band asked the three concerns to pay a total of $1,500 a year between them.

Provincial government trucks arrived at the reserve section of the road to spread gravel but Chief William Roberts ordered them off. He believes the province may try to seize the right-of-way if it starts maintaining it.

Meanwhile, the condition of the road has so deteriorated that it is being used only by essential traffic.

Third Man Held

Businessman Charged In $17,000 Dice Loss

VANCOUVER (CP) — An Edmonton businessman has been charged with conspiracy to defraud following an intensive investigation of a dice game in which another man reported losing almost $17,000.

Police said Friday the suspect, George Heller, third to be charged in the case, is being brought here from Edmonton.

TWO OTHERS

He is jointly charged with Donald Harris, 26, of Winnipeg, and Sam Kline, 39, of Calgary, in the conspiracy. Kline is free on $10,000 bail and Harris on $5,000 bail.

Kline and Harris also face charges of fraud. Both appeared in police court Thursday and were remanded to Jan. 29 for trial.

The charges followed a complaint by a Calgary man that he lost close to $17,000 in a dice game here between Nov. 27 and Nov. 30. Police later seized 500 pairs of allegedly crooked dice from a west-end apartment.

Took Pot To Police

COURTENAY — A charge of stealing against Alex Bartko was dismissed by County Court Judge A. L. Hanna on Thursday.

The charge arose from a blackjack game at Tahsis in which stakes rose to over $1,800.

It was laid by dealer John Malicki who claimed Bartko, at the end of the game, took the pot of $946 and put it in his pocket with his own money.

Bartko claimed there was cheating and felt he had a right to the money as a result.

He took the money to RCMP headquarters.

$30,000 Freighter Fire Not Arson Say Probers

Arson has been ruled out in the $30,000 fire aboard the British freighter King David, tied up at the Harmac pulp mill dock Jan. 1.

Investigation by the inspector, A. H. Owen-Jones, also failed to produce any evidence positively linking the blaze with a shipboard party held New Year's Eve.

B.C. deputy fire marshall H. Kendall Jenns said in Vancouver last night: "We know they had a party on New Year's Eve—who didn't?—but we can establish no criminal connection between the two incidents."

North Cedar volunteers fought the stubborn early-morning blaze for two hours.

Honoring Scottish pioneers, it includes the green of the hemlock, the blue of the Pacific, the red of the rhododendron and the yellow of the willow goldfinch, Washington's state bird.

Charge Dismissed

Intent Lacking In Dog's Death

PORT ALBERNI—A cocker spaniel, killed with a hammer while foraging on a neighbor's compost heap, was the subject of a court case here Friday morning.

Magistrate W. E. MacLeod dismissed the charge against Jack E. Harris who pleaded not guilty to wilfully killing the animal, an unlicensed, female purebred spaniel, the property of Mrs. J. S. Butters, 245 Rogers Street.

NO INTENT

In dismissing the charge Magistrate MacLeod said he was satisfied there had been no intention on the part of the accused to kill the dog. According to evidence given in court, Mr. Harris had thrown a hammer which had struck the animal on the back of the head.

During the trial, the question of whether the Sheep Protection Act applied in the case was debated by defence counsel F. Armour Ford and city prosecutor E. A. Dinsmore.

NO RIGHT TO KILL

Mr. Ford claimed that if the Act applied there was no case in view of the fact that it gives any person the right to kill an unlicensed dog found off the owner's property. Mr. Dinsmore contended that the city's dog licensing by-law superseded the Act. The Magistrate stated, after dismissing the charge on grounds that intent had not been shown, he was inclined to believe the matter did come under the Sheep Protection Act.

Schoolboy Struck By Car

DUNCAN — A seven-year-old boy, struck down by a car as he darted across the Trans-Canada Highway north of Mill Bay yesterday afternoon, was in fair condition in hospital here early today.

Richard Dupont had just alighted from a school bus southbound on the Trans-Canada Highway two miles north of Mill Bay.

STILL BLINKING

Witnesses say the bus' flashing red lights were still blinking as the boy ran east across the road into the path of an oncoming car which police say was driven by Mrs. Dorothy Castle, 251 Station, Duncan.

The accident occurred directly in front of the youngster's home, on Nightingale Road at the highway junction.

Mrs. Morris Dupont rushed to the scene and cared for her son until the amulance arrived.

Police say young Richard was struck by the right front headlight of the northbound car.

Full extent of the victim's injuries has not yet been determined.

Island's Boom-Bust Pattern Breaking?

More People Working Than in Past Decade

By TED PULFORD

In the files of national employment service offices throughout Vancouver Island this morning lie sets of neatly tabulated figures which may provide a striking insight into the economic prospects for 1962.

Year-end unemployment figures, a sensitive barometer of the Island community's prosperity, indicate a healthier employment level for this time of year than at any time in the past decade.

They also indicate, the classic pattern of summer boom-winter doldrums may be near the breaking point at last.

All but one of the Island's NES offices reports a drop of some 30 per cent in the number of people seeking work, compared with the same period a year ago.

The pattern revealed by Victoria's figures is most striking of all.

At the end of 1961, 3,956 men and women were seeking work. A year earlier, 5,711 were registered as jobless—a drop of more than 30 per cent.

Up to yesterday, 4,000 claimants had applied to the local office for unemployment insurance while a year ago the total stood at 5,300.

Throughout the Island, the same relatively buoyant condition exists.

NES manager Robbie Robinson said from Duncan last night his jobless rolls had dropped by more than 300 to 1,150 at year's end.

Much of the improvement, Mr. Robinson said, is attributable to the continuing high level of work being done by the heavy timber industry.

Firm Lumber Market

Firmness of eastern seaboard and United States lumber markets are considered primarily responsible.

Other Duncan industries mirror the trend — with the notable exception of construction. The local pulp mill is churning out products at 80 per cent of capacity and secondary industries are busy.

While construction in the area is dragging somewhat, experts look to a better season than ever this spring.

In Nanaimo, according to NES chief executive Jock Clarke, the employment situation is both buoyant for this time of year and relatively stable.

"There are 1,578 looking for work here now while 2,000 were jobless a year ago," he said.

Nanaimo's construction industry, pressed by urgent contracts, has jumped the spring gun by several weeks and should be working at near capacity by the end of February.

Most of Nanaimo's loggers worked right through the Christmas-New Year's week.

From Port Alberni's NES manager, Charles Harman, comes word that busy mills and a bustling construction industry have chipped unemployment rolls from 1,465 a year ago to 997 at present.

"Construction plans for new schools, blocks and a medical centre augur well for the year," Mr. Harman said.

Alone Among Others

Alone among NES centres, reporting little improvement, is Ted Musgrove's office in Courtenay. Last year's jobless total of 1,760 remains almost the same.

Prospects are good, Mr. Musgrove said, but bad weather has curtailed high-country logging operations so far this winter.

Why is the pattern referred to earlier different in terms of these figures?

Using Victoria's figures as an example, it is noted that the percentage of increase in unemployment between August and November in some years has risen by as much as 109 per cent.

Unemployment during this critical, four-month period soared by a whopping average of 90 per cent in the years from 1954 to 1957.

In 1961, the increase during the period was only 18 per cent.

What is happening?

Employment experts here believe that balanced use of the labor force by industry can take as much credit as an upsurge in the economy.

This year, they point out, a combination of beneficial factors will be responsible for the prosperity so confidently forecast.

And—because of this—they think it's likely to last a while.

Bustin' Out All Over

Plumb in the middle of Victoria's mild winter, 16 plum trees along St. Andrew's, near Simcoe Street, have burst into bloom. Freckle-faced Frank Deacon, 11, of 5 Alma Place, couldn't believe his eyes and climbed into one tree for a closer look.—(Colonist photo.)

$272,000 To Build 'Beauty'

Provincial cabinet yesterday voted the Capital Improvement District Commission some $272,000 for beautification and development projects in Greater Victoria.

Largest project will be the $125,000 beautification of Douglas Street between Hillside and Saanich Road covering the cost of tree purchases and planting, construction of boulevards, relocation of sidewalks where necessary, installation of a sprinkler system and median traffic control.

SOUTHEAST CORNER

Another $5,000 has been provided for the beautification of the southeast corner of Oswego and Belleville Streets. A sum not exceeding $2,200 has been set aside for the installation of sidewalks, curbs and grass at Cattle Point in the Uplands.

Cabinet also added $140,000 for sundry land acquisitions.

City Shipyard Modernizes

By IAN STREET

Yarrows Ltd. is modernizing its facilities for building small ships in anticipation of a rapid growth in the demand for bigger fishboats and tugs in B.C. waters.

General manager John Wallace said yesterday the yard is spending $150,000 on structural alterations to two covered building berths, new wiring and additional cranes for heavy lifting.

The modernization program is aimed at improving the yard's efficiency in a field where it has not always been fully competitive in the past.

He said indications are that more larger fishboats and tugboats will be built on this coast soon.

Reduced construction costs are the key to a greater share of this growing field.

The improvements include addition of a second 10-ton crane in No. 1 building berth. The present five-ton crane in No. 2 building berth will be replaced by one with a lift capacity of 10 tons.

STANDS AT 750

General employment in Yarrows stands at 750 with no immediate prospect of a sizeable reduction.

Meanwhile, work began this week at Yarrows on construction of the $1,800,000 fisheries research vessel G. B. Reid.

The 177-foot vessel is scheduled for delivery in October.

TOTAL WILL JUMP

About 30 men are employed but the total will jump to 75 in several weeks and reach 100 before it is completed. The ship will be ready for launching in five months.

It will carry a crew of 36 men, including scientists and will operate in Northwest Pacific waters.

Army Picks City's Stock

Lieut. D. M. Stock of Victoria has been appointed paymaster at B.C. area headquarters of the Canadian Army, officials said yesterday.

He is now serving with the Royal Canadian Army pay corps in the Middle East.

Labor Backs Griffin

Victoria Labor Council has endorsed Ald. Michael Griffin's fight to have aldermen and mayor of Victoria given increased indemnities.

In a letter to city council yesterday, the VLC noted "the great need to keep the opportunity of running for public office as open to all citizens as possible."

Ships Start Long Trip

Three destroyer escorts of RCN Pacific Command left Victoria yesterday on a 3½-month, 15,000-mile cruise that will take them to Far Eastern ports.

The 750 officers and men of HMC ships Assiniboine, Margaree and Ottawa will be participating in the longest peacetime training cruise made by ships from this coast since the Second World War.

Ships will visit Hawaii, Midway, Japan, the Philippines, Burma, Ceylon, Malaya and Siam.

Scouts Plan Bottle Drive

A bottle drive will be held by 3rd Arbutus (View Royal) group of the Boy Scouts starting at 10 a.m. today from Admirals Road to Six Mile House to Kingham Place on Helmcken Road at the Trans-Canada Highway.

Tax Prospect Good

Victoria's Sitting Pretty

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Victoria seems to be sitting pretty under the provincial government's new assessment formula with a strong prospect of a drop in taxes.

Major factor in speculation that taxes will drop is the heavy increase in assessments in the three surrounding municipalities.

* * *

Preliminary figures indicate land assessments will increase 60 per cent in Saanich, 40 per cent in Oak Bay and 35 per cent in Esquimalt. Assessments on improvements are expected to remain about the same in Esquimalt, drop slightly in Oak Bay and increase slightly in Saanich.

Last year Victoria paid 48 per cent of school costs for the Greater Victoria school district, because the city's assessment was 48 per cent of the total assessment in Greater Victoria.

But under the new formula, Victoria's total is down slightly from last year's figure of almost $100,000,000.

This, together with the increases elsewhere may give Victoria a smaller percentage of the overall total and, consequently a smaller percentage of the schools budget.

The figures essential to unsnarl the situation are not yet available—such as the city's 1962 budget, the school board's budget and firm total assessment figures for the four municipalities.

* * *

But informed estimates are that the city's total assessment will drop slightly, meaning a slight increase—less than a mill—in the city's mill rate to raise last year's budget of $10,200,000.

The money saved on school costs could easily wipe out this slight increase.

Over the past 10 years, with the city's total assessment remaining more or less static and the assessments of the surrounding municipities increasing, the city's share of school costs has dropped from 50 per cent in 1950 to 48.6 per cent last year.

This year's percentage is expected to drop sharply, and officials confidently predict the city share will keep dropping through the years.

B.C. Chooses Alcan Man

Appointment of R. S. S. Wilson, works manager for the Vancouver factory of the Aluminium Co. of Canada as a member of the B.C. labor relations board and the board of industrial relations, was announced by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson yesterday.

Bennett Certain Ottawa Dodging

By PETER BRUTON

Premier Bennett is apparently convinced federal Finance Minister Fleming is deliberately dodging a face-to-face meeting to discuss Columbia River power project financing.

This became evident yesterday when the premier said: "I'm willing to meet him any time he can come here."

The latest move followed receipt of a telegram from Mr. Fleming stating he would be unable to travel to Toronto Jan. 12 for the discussions the premier had suggested.

The telegram, coupled with the fact Mr. Fleming and other cabinet ministers were "out of town" when Premier Bennett journeyed to Ottawa late last year, is believed to have convinced the premier the federal government is dodging.

He said a letter would be sent to Mr. Fleming suggesting a number of possible dates when the discussions could be held here.

It would be impossible for him to make another trip to the East at least until after the next B.C. budget is brought down Feb. 9.

Mr. Fleming's telegram asked Mr. Bennett to suggest another date this month. Meanwhile, in Vancouver, External Affairs Minister Green said Mr. Bennett's stand was "a dictatorial approach."

Experts Weigh Glafkos' Fate

The answer to whether the Ss. Glafkos is repaired or sold for scrap lies in the sodden engineroom.

Local shipyard officials indicated yesterday the 84-foot tear in the portside bottom plates will be costly to repair.

But the extent of damage in engine room machinery and possible structural defects will tip the balance in the final analysis.

ANSWER MONDAY?

Shipyard officials, insurance adjusters and agents for the owners likely will complete their assessment of damage Monday.

If the decision is in favor of repairing the 18-year-old ship, reportedly worth about $500,000, specifications will be sent to local shipyards for bidding on the job.

Otherwise the ship will be patched up and towed away to be broken up for scrap.

Will tourists this year be prepared to bunk down in private homes here?

"They just won't come" was the opinion yesterday of Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, chairman of the city's centennial committee. He was criticizing newspaper stories that his committee is making plans to accommodate any overflow in private homes.

"That sort of story can only damage us and turn a potentially excellent tourist year into a poor one," he said. "We had the same sort of stories before the 1958 centennial and it did damage us then.

"We can handle as many as will come and we'll accommodate them somehow. That's all we have to say. Never mind how, that's up to the committee to figure out and we will."

Dr. William Gibson will lecture on the birth of new ideas in science at a public meeting of the University Extension Association in Victoria College Auditorium at 8.15 p.m. Monday.

A perpetual trophy and cash prizes will be offered to winners of the annual Victoria and District Contract Bridge Tournament which starts Jan. 22.

Entry forms and information are available from Mrs. Mavis Mooney, EV 3-3910.

Courses designed for persons who have never attended university are expected to draw a scant 40 adults during the spring term of Victoria College evening division.

Fact that the courses are university-sponsored is believed to be the reason there are so few takers. To make up for this, meetings are held in private homes rather than classrooms.

"Ideas in Context" will be one of the new courses. It uses excerpts from writings of philosophers, economists, politicians and novelists as topics for discussion.

Seen In Passing

Don Fouracre checking a new adding machine. He sells adding machines and typewriters for a city typewriter firm and lives at 2401 Camelot Road with his wife, Heaven. His favorite form of relaxation is beachcombing for driftwood.

Maurice Parker leaving on a bumpy trip to Tofino.

Noel Bodwell all ready for a boat trip. Bill Stanton planning to say he'd be a little late getting back to the office.

Oak Bay Issues Call For Civil Defenders

Oak Bay's civil defence organization is being activated immediately and volunteers in main the entire organization are urgently required.

"There are many interesting positions, calling for initiative and ability, available if we are to create a first-rate corps," co-ordinator G. O. White said yesterday.

Particulars and enrolment forms are available from the municipal hall, 2167 Oak Bay Avenue.

Cold Shoulder Burns Aldermen

* * *

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

HIGHWAY PATROL: Some of our city aldermen are doing a not too slow burn over the fact they were left in the lurch by city police New Year's Day.

Seems two police cars were ordered to take the aldermen and Mayor R. B. Wilson around to the rest of the receptions.

Only one turned up and some city fathers were left on the sidewalk, as it were.

The word is they're determined to get to the bottom of the matter.

A SWINGIN' AFFAIR: For the past two years members of the Victoria local of the musician's union have been trying to get together for a night on the town.

Last night they finally made it.

It took quite a bit of conniving to convince the managers of those establishments which usually employ musicians to let their bands have a night off.

Vince Butler, trustee of the union, said it was only the second time in the 56-year-old history of the union that all members were free to attend a soiree.

And some 500 did.

The idea of the all-in party came up two years ago and ever since then the union has had the money to pay for the affair.

Last night was the first time the members had the time.

Sure, they had music last night—provided by a local hobby group so no professional musician would have to work. And the employers of bands in the area were all invited down to attend the gathering.

And a special member was honored.

Paddy Heaton, who won't give out his real age, is the oldest active musician in Victoria. So they called it Paddy Heaton Night.

* * *

SMILE SHOW: Maybe it isn't the most suitable subject, but the broad smiles, light hearted banter and friendliness being exuded by Premier Bennett and members of the treasury board these days could mean provincial revenues are in pretty good shape.

There was another recent indication as well. The government cheerfully paid out $6,000,000 in cash from its treasury for the Black Ball Ferries.

Even the civil servants are convinced they'll get a raise.

Then again, maybe it's just that Premier Bennett really means it when he says he's going to bring gobbwill to provincial politics!

* * *

LIGHT SWITCH: Workmen around the legislative buildings are experimenting with methods of illuminating the leaded windows outside the legislative chamber.

The effect of the lighting on one of the windows done so far is terrific. The idea of illuminating the windows came from historian writer James K. Nesbitt.

AROUND TOWN: A number of readers, who apparently regard this column as some sort of better business bureau, have complained their membership cards in a dinner-of-the-month plan operated by a city hotel were not honored on New Year's Day. Certainly there is nothing on the membership cards stating they are not valid on holidays. We checked the hotel concerned and the manager said the reason the cards weren't accepted both on New Year's Day and Christmas Day was because special meals were served. One would think, however, the hotel could have saved a lot of inconvenience all round if it had advised members of the special restrictions beforehand.

Stealing Always Despised But Who Puts God First?

By DR. FRANK MORLEY

Many a man gets quite indignant over a breach of the commandment "Thou shalt not steal" but has little or no respect for the others. The first commandment says God must come first.

What percentage of the population puts God first? The second forbids idolatry but we have scores of idols—pleasure, sports, business, power, comfort.

HORRIBLE BLASPHEMY

The blasphemy in this country is horrible yet the third commandment reads, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain, for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh His name in vain."

* * *

The Voice Of One

* * *

Profanity used to be the sign of ill-breeding. It is the mark of an empty mind to which nothing is sacred. The man without reverence is a man without God.

DEAREST AMBITION

Take the commandment "Thou shalt not covet." Our society is built around covetousness. To achieve a "high standard of living is our dearest ambition. According to the scriptures covetousness is idolatry; the covetous man worships goods not the Good.

"Thou shalt not commit adultery" is basic to strong family life. Chaste men and women are an essential constituent of a healthy society.

SOUND BUSINESS

"Thou shalt not bear false witness" is imperative to sound business and politics. Yet lying is accepted as normal. The most outrageous lies bring no rebuke.

The famous psychologist, Henry Link, in "The Rediscovery of Man," maintained that the 10 commandments are not flexible customs peculiar to a certain time and place, but are the basic and unchanging laws of personality. It is interesting that Erich Froum and Spinoza say the greedy man is an insane man!

WISDOM OF RACE

If a sane, sound personality demands observance of the 10 commandments, certainly a harmonious society also requires their observance. They belong to the wisdom of the race and we do not break them when we transgress them. We illustrate them and are broken by them.

Anglican Catechism

Devil Makes Comeback

LONDON (Reuters) — The devil has won back his place in the revised catechism of the Church of England, it was disclosed this week.

A committee preparing a new version of the catechism — children's introduction to the church's teaching — last year decided not to refer to the devil by name.

* * *

But a meeting later in the year disclosed strong opposition to this view.

Now printed copies of the revised catechism have been sent to all members of the Convocation of Canterbury, provincial constitutional assembly of clergy and laity which meets again on Jan. 16.

They show that the devil has been reintroduced.

* * *

Instead of the old phrase "I renounce the devil and all his works," confirmation candidates now will say: "I would renounce the devil and fight against evil."

The convocation is to be asked to commend the new catechism for use in teaching over a period of seven years.

Tennessee Ruling

U.S. Blue Law Thrown Out

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—City Judge Andrew Doyle yesterday ruled Nashville's "blue law" was unconstitutional because it discriminated against merchants other than Jews and Seventh Day Adventists.

The law prohibiting operation of businesses on Sunday exempted drugstores, florists, bathhouses, shoeshine parlors, newspapers, undertakers and persons "who observe the seventh day of the week as the Sabbath."

"I don't think it is constitutional for the Jew or the Seventh Day Adventist to be allowed to operate on a day when a Methodist or a Baptist cannot operate a business," said Judge Doyle. He ruled it was class legislation.

400,000 Strong

Significant Year Ahead For United Church Women

By STASIA EVASUK
(TNS)

The year 1962 has special significance for 400,000 women of the United Church.

On Dec. 31 they saw the curtain ring down on two church societies which have been leaving their mark on every part of Canada for over a century in quiet, and some not-so-quiet, ways.

The Woman's Association and the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada officially disappeared and were replaced on Jan. 1 by a new organization called The United Church Women.

What is the reason for this drastic change in the making for 18 years?

First of all, the women's groups were formed in the early 19th century, when women were satisfied with a back seat to men. The picture has changed radically since then.

IN BUSINESS

Today enough women have experience working in business and professions and on boards that they can't be set aside in little sewing groups as they were in the 19th century.

Women today want to be on equal footing with men.

What will the new organization achieve?

It will unite all women of the United Church and bring them into the whole work of the congregation.

SHARING

Men and women will share all the work in one unified effort.

Dr. H. L. Pottle, secretary of the United Church Board of Information and Stewardship, explains it in a nutshell.

"We should expect to see less and less of men at church meetings being waited on at tables by women who, being jocularly thanked by the men, retire to the kitchen to do the dishes, while the men carry on to do the real business of the church."

Inaugural meetings are being called early this year to carry through the organization of The United Church Women.

The story of these women's groups is really the story of the United Church. But if you were to dig into their archives, you'd discover that their records are sketchy or non-existent.

But from facts already collected there is evidence to show that pioneer mothers in the early 1800s coveted a Christian environment for their children.

They hungered for the companionship of other women: and the rigor of their lives made a sustaining personal faith as necessary to them as bread.

They had to have a church and a minister as God's emissary. When they got a preacher, his comfort became a deep concern.

For instance, the Bathurst, N.S., group was recording as early as 1823 such items as "one bushel oats" (for the minister's horse), "five lbs. candles" (for the good man himself).

In the 1850s women of Raceville, Ont., reported "bought harness for the Rev. Folkes' horse and fixed up the horse stable."

MANS WORLD

It was a man's world. A Goderich church in 1838 saw to it that the women kept to their own side of the church at services.

The threads of the WA and WMS were carried into the west as the church pushed back the frontiers. McDougall Church, Edmonton, was established by 1871, but in 1866 women were gathering children together for Sunday school.

Often the first gatherings of the women in the west were inter-denominational and sometimes money was divided several ways.

More often they shared a building. Anglia, near Rosetown, Sask., was served one Sunday by the Presbyterian minister, and the next Sunday by the Methodist.

It is no wonder that out of prairie soil came the first experiments in organic union that produced the United Church.

The union of the three communions — Methodist, Congregational and Presbyterian — was brought about in 1925. And since the United Church Women came into being New Year's Day, it has already been referred to as "one of the greatest steps taken by the church since union."

This perky young lady, Mrs. Annie Pinsent, went out to Japan in 1905 as a WMS missionary with the Methodist Church.

Wedding Fashions Rapped

NEW YORK (AP) — Most brides look "dreadful" in wedding fashions that "should have gone out with the horse and carriage," a noted New York milliner said Thursday.

"I went to some 50 weddings in a year and a half," said the milliner, who goes by the name of William J. "It was pretty dreadful."

Weddings should have dignity. But neither bridal dresses nor the hairdos worn by brides impart this dignity, he contended in an interview.

"We must do away with the nipped-in waist, the huge full skirt, the massive train, the layers of tulle — the whole cumbersome dress."

He suggested "almost comfortable" dresses of dull satin or crepe with ankle-length skirts instead of yards of unwieldy material around the feet.

For the formal wedding, William J. suggested the barest suggestion of a train — "a small softness that comes out from the end of the skirt."

He also suggested very long white gloves, bridal bouquets that look natural, casual hairdos and headdresses that look more like hats.

Canadian Kitchen Hero Perdicts Instant Meals

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Ed Asselbergs, an unsung hero of Canadian kitchens, is working towards the day when busy housewives will be able to prepare a variety of tasty meals with a few minutes' work.

His laboratory has already turned out a half-dozen successful formulas for instant food and has more on the way.

A year ago, the 30-year-old agricultural department scientist came up with the first Canadian technique for making instant mashed potatoes. It was a commercial hit.

Since then he has arranged the process to fit meat, fish, turnip and pumpkin mixes. The latest was an instant form of fishcakes, combining potatoes and fish.

All have "excellent flavor, color and taste," Dr. Asselbergs reports. Government departments and commercial interests are studying the ideas for development.

Key to Dr. Asselberg's success is a machine he invented which dries foods to a tissue-like sheet of crystals. A revolving drum squeezes and picks up the prepared food, then exposes it to heat and steam pressure.

The dry product emerges from one end much like paper out of a typewriter. Then it is crumbled into a powder.

Dr. Asselbergs says the mixtures will keep on the shelf for a year without refrigeration.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I was fascinated by the letter from the father whose 11-year-old flat-chested daughter appeared at the breakfast table wearing a brassiere. He said the girl didn't need a bra any more than he did and he so informed his wife by telephone the moment he reached his office.

His wife agreed that Flora did not need a bra but she bagged for one because most of her friends were one and she felt left out.

You agreed with the father that this was utter foolishness. Please look at the enclosed ad which I clipped from a leading woman's magazine. The child in this ad can't be more than 9 years old. The ad says the child's mother should buy her a bra for "emotional reassurance."

Of all the poppycock dished out by hucksters this is the worst. Comment, please.—E.I.F.

Dear E.I.F.: Thanks for your letter. It is excellent. And thanks for sending the ad. It is nauseating.

A mother who would put a brassiere on a 9-year-old in order to give her "emotional assurance" is in pretty bad shape herself.

The way to give children emotional assurance is to love them, spend time with them, listen to them and give them a feeling of personal worth. The notion that emotional reassurance can be had in A, B and C cups is absurd.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: I graduated from high school at 18. I made honor grades and thought my academic record would help me get a good job. Every place I went they said "Sorry, we need someone with experience."

I enrolled in a business school and graduated with high marks. I've been hunting for an office job for 18 months. All I hear is "We need someone with experience."

How can a person fresh out of school get experience when no one will give him a chance? Please tell me what to do, Ann. I'm beginning to think this is a cruel, cruel world.

—UNEMPLOYED.

Dear Unemployed: Inexperienced people (especially office help) are hired every day on the strength of recommendations from business schools.

Perhaps your appearance, your personality or your general attitude needs working on. Discuss this problem with your business school teachers—and good luck to you.

TV TALK

The Kingston Trio, three fellows who went to college together, are making a television series in which they play three fellows who went to college together.

"This set gives us nothing but trouble."

Nick Reynolds, Bob Shane and John Stewart (who replaced Dave Guard when the trio's founder quit), are starring in "Three Men in a Hurry," now being filmed in Hollywood.

Because they are supposedly ex-college types who sang together, the trio will do plenty of singing in the series — at class reunions, banquets and such.

Mirror-Examiner

Two Major Newspapers Folding in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Norman Chandler, president of the Times Mirror Co., announced yesterday that the Chandler afternoon paper—the Los Angeles Mirror—would cease publication as of yesterday's final edition.

An announcement that the Los Angeles Examiner, the morning Hearst group newspaper, would cease publication following its Sunday edition was expected shortly. Employees of the Examiner have been advised that their employment will be terminated after today.

Cessation of publication of the afternoon Mirror and the Examiner will leave Los Angeles with two Metropolitan newspapers—the Times in the morning field and the Herald-Express, also a Hearst paper, in the afternoon field.

Tug Defeats Huge Storm

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—The 150-foot seagoing tug Commodore Straits, her steel ladders and rails bent and twisted, arrived under tow Friday after riding out a night of mountainous seas and 100-mile-an-hour winds.

She lost both her tow and her rudder and for hours was at the mercy of the elements.

Capt. M. J. Macdonald and his 12-man crew kept the 544-ton tug off the rocks of Dundas Island after the hurricane-like blow struck.

A survey crew began examining the vessel to determine if damage was confined to her superstructure.

Meanwhile, the tug's tow, the 2,000-ton self-loading log barge Forest Prince, worth more than $500,000, was located on the beach at Gravina Island off the coast of Alaska.

STANDING BY

The tug N.R. Lange was standing by until the Johnstone Straits, sister of the Commodore Straits, arrived to tow it to Vancouver for survey and repairs.

Officials of Straits Towing Ltd. of Vancouver, owners of the Commodore Straits, said she probably would be towed to Vancouver for repairs. Commodore Straits was rescued by another sister tug, the Comet, and towed into Prince Rupert.

Three Face Fraud Counts

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three men and seven companies were charged Friday with conspiracy to defraud the public of more than $1,000,000.

The charges involve a series of alleged real estate frauds under investigation for more than two years, police said.

Arthur Bennett, 33, president of Hycrest Developments Ltd., and lawyer John Perry MacKrow of Vancouver were charged along with Robert Steele, 47, of Victoria, who gave his occupation as a barber.

The three were remanded a week when they appeared in police court. Bail of $20,000 was set for Bennett, $15,000 for MacKrow and $5,000 for Steele.

City prosecutor Stewart McMorran said the actual conspiracy involved a total of $1,028,800. He said an additional $592,000 was not covered in the charges.

FIRMS NAMED

The companies charged are Hycrest Hotels Ltd.; Hycrest Motels Ltd.; Ideal Motels Ltd.; Emerald Apartments Ltd.; Belvedere Apartments Ltd.; Hycrest Investments Ltd. and Hycrest Developments Ltd.

Police said the frauds are alleged to have involved apartment buildings and motels throughout Vancouver which changed hands for small amounts of cash and shares which are said to be worthless. Nearly 50 persons are believed to have lost money.

Big Pulp Mill In Peace Area?

VANCOUVER (CP) — An official of Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Co. Ltd. said Friday the company is planning a pulp mill in the northern Peace River area.

President Bernard Gore said plans for the mill now are on the drawing boards of a Vancouver consulting engineers firm.

He gave no further details other than saying the company has completed forest and marketing surveys.

The company had not yet completed its tree farm licence application which it must submit to the B.C. government to get cutting rights to the timber in the Peace region.

Most likely site for the mill is said to be just above the Peace River damsite at Portage Mountain.

Police Commandos Raid Posh Homes

MONTREAL (CP)—Squads of police, moving with the teamwork of wartime commandos, launched a series of raids on private homes in north Montreal and the Laurentian resort area Friday.

The raids, aimed primarily at solving a bank holdup in which the loot has been set as high as $4,000,000, resulted in four men and four women being detained and the seizure of large amounts of cash, jewelry, a car, household effects and a number of "important papers."

The raids were described by Inspector Joe Bedard as "only the beginning."

"We're going to have a busy weekend," he said.

NO NAMES

Insp. Bedard said charges against at least some of the eight persons detained probably will be laid early next week. No names were released.

Police said that, although they were looking primarily for bank loot, the 40 raiders also picked up about $4,000 worth of electrical appliances and other household goods believed to have been stolen.

New Ferry 'Out' Soon

VANCOUVER (CP)—The new $3,000,000 ferry City of Vancouver, fourth in the B.C. government's Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen service fleet, will be launched from a North Vancouver yard Jan. 16.

Dennis Howell

Local Fairey Chief To Head Company

Appointment of Dennis Howell of Victoria as general manager of Fairey Aviation Co. of Canada Ltd. was announced yesterday.

Mr. Howell, who has been manager of Fairey's Patricia Bay Airport plant for the last seven years, has also been appointed to the board of directors.

Taking over as manager of the local plant will be Kenneth Hibbert, at present executive assistant to Mr. Howell.

The 40-year-old executive's headquarters will be at the company's eastern plant near Halifax.

Mr. Howell is a production engineer who joined the Fairey company in Halifax 12 years ago. He came to Victoria seven years ago and started the plant here with four employees. The firm now employs 135 men and is in the process of gradual expansion.

Mr. Howell has served as a director of the B.C. Aviation Council, worked on the industrial committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and is a member of the Canadian Aeronautical Institute. He leaves for his new appointment in February.

Surprise Party Thrown For Court Employee

Retiring after 33 years' service in the Bastion Square courthouse Mrs. Charles Dagmar Cameron was given a surprise party by her fellow employees this week.

On the pretext of giving her a lift home a colleague, Mrs. Doris Danes, took her to the Ten Mile Point home of appeal clerk William Bamber, 2958 Minnie Road, where the registry staff had gathered.

Mrs. Cameron was presented with an inscribed jewel box from the staff and a box of long-stemmed roses from Magistrate William Ostler.

During her latter years of service Mrs. Cameron was clerk to the small debts court and secretary to the B.C. Appeal Court.

In addition to well-wishes from the staff gathered at the party, judges and lawyers of the appeal court, the supreme court and county court sent their regards.

Crashed U.S. Pilot Lives

PENTICTON (CP) — Capt. Donald Adcock of Kent, Wash., who survived a United States national air guard jet plane crash in interior British Columbia, was in satisfactory condition in hospital last night.

He was taken to hospital after being plucked from snow-covered bushland by an RCAF helicopter.

HIGH WINDS

High winds, low clouds and approaching darkness made it impossible for the helicopter to pick up the body of the second man who was aboard the F-89 Scorpion, which apparently exploded at 35,000 feet and crashed Thursday night.

The helicopter will pick up the body of Lieut. Larry Grimm, 25, of Spokane, radar observer aboard the aircraft, this morning, weather permitting.

SUFFERED FRACTURES

Flight surgeon Dudley Scott of the U.S. Air Force said he suspected Capt. Adcock suffered fractures. He would make no further comment.

The two men were on a routine night training flight from the Geiger air force base at Spokane when their aircraft went down.

LOST CONTACT

A second F-89 that had been on the same flight reported it had lost contact with the plane after seeing an explosion in midair.

An RCAF Albatross search plane went into the area Thursday night and early Friday picked up a signal from a battery-operated radio apparently carried by the survivor for emergency use.

ON MOUNTAIN

The fliers were sighted about a quarter mile apart on Cable Mountain, about 40 miles east of Penticton in heavily-timbered area covered by five to six feet of snow.

Vernon Enjoys More Sunshine

VERNON (CP) — The weatherman recorded 1,926.6 hours of sunshine in the Vernon area last month, 114.2 more than the city's average over the last 33 years.

Acquittal Appealed

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Crown has appealed the dismissal of an impaired driving charge against Henry McQuillan, 35, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Comox-Alberni.

Mr. McQuillan won dismissal in police court Dec. 21 on a charge of impaired driving. He was arrested Nov. 29 after being involved in a rear-end collision in Vancouver.

Magistrate Lorne Jackson said he found the accident caused by negligence of the other driver and ruled it a borderline case in which there was reasonable doubt.

TV Camera Empty

Candid Blow Remains Hidden

LONDON (UPI) — Jonathan Routh, 33, who operates a hidden camera for the Candid Camera show here, had planned it perfectly. Up to a point.

He'd pose as a shop assistant, tell some unsuspecting customer there was no one else to wait on him and then film an "interesting" reaction while he stalled the customer interminably by fumbling around. It worked, too.

* * *

The "point" came when the "subject's" friend spotted the ruse, however. Six-foot-two and a former boxer, he belted Routh square on the nose and then turned around and landed a haymaker on the mouth of scriptwriter Bill Kellie.

Routh said later television viewers would never see that candid moment. He ran out of film 20 seconds before the punch.

Goldschmidt Quits Post

VANCOUVER (CP) — Nicholas Goldschmidt, artistic director of the Vancouver international festival, has resigned after holding the position since 1956.

The resignation, already accepted by festival directors, is effective at the end of the next festival season.

Flag-Snubbing Under Probe

PORT ALLEN, La. (UPI) — Ten high school students, all members of the Jehovah's Witnesses, may be brought before a state legislative committee on un-American activities for their refusal to salute the U.S. flag.

A church spokesman for the students said their religion held pledging allegiance and saluting the flag was worshipping graven images.

Civil War In France Outlaw Cry

ALGIERS (UPI) — The outlawed Secret Army Organization yesterday called for total civil war if necessary to prevent President Charles de Gaulle from turning over Algeria to the Moslems.

The call, in a pirate radio broadcast, came while European-Moslem terrorists continued to take a heavy toll. At least 12 more people were killed in Algeria's major cities during the day, bringing the death toll since New Year's to 91. About 200 more have been wounded in the past five days.

18 KILLED

On the military front, the French reported 18 soldiers killed and seven wounded in an ambush by National Liberation Front rebels at Setif in east Algeria. It was the third ambush this week by the Moslem rebel force, which, the French announced, lost 543 men killed or captured between Dec. 16 and 29.

The Secret army had plastered Algiers, Oran and other cities with posters calling for "general mobilization" against de Gaulle's plans for an independent Moslem Algeria.

It followed up with a broadcast on a frequency close to that of the French-operated state broadcasting station, declaring:

"Since the Paris government wants civil war, it can have it. Every European in Algeria should consider himself as mobilized."

Packed Bus Somersaults

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) —A packed bus rolled 400 feet into a gorge yesterday west of Sydney, killing three women and injuring 30 people. The bus somersaulted eight times, split open and stopped on the brink of another 500-foot gorge.

500,000 Indians Stampede

PATNA, India (UPI) — Half a million Indians stampeded repeatedly yesterday in a panicky, suffocating mass of humanity surging forward to see and hear Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru address a meeting of his ruling Congress party.

The government withheld an immediate announcement on casualties, but a "large number" of persons including women and children was reported to have been crushed or suffocated. No deaths were mentioned, but a high toll was feared.

ROOM FOR 100,000

The huge throng had been herded into a compound made of corrugated iron sheets used for roofing. The compound, constructed to hold 100,000 persons, was separated into sections by log barriers and had only one narrow exit.

Thousands of people anxious for a closer look at Nehru and other party leaders surged forward suddenly in a mass of bodies that jammed closer together as it neared the exit leading toward the speaker's platform.

SCREAMS

An announcer siezed a microphone and appealed for order "in the name of God" but the crowd surged through the narrow opening toward Nehru like water through a brusting dam. There were screams from those being trampled.

The stampeding multitude halted briefly, and during the lull Nehru tried to soothe the crowd. He reminded it that only discipline had enabled the Indian troops to capture Goa from the Portuguese. But his words went unheeded and the stampede resumed.

The angry prime minister left the meeting and the session was ordered closed. This touched off another surge forward by the crowd hastening to move forward before he disappeared from sight.

PRESSURE RISES

The session was to have been the formal opening session of the 67th annual congress called a few weeks before India's general elections.

In a morning meeting, delegates demanded that a deadline be set to drive the Pakistanis out of disputed areas of Kashmir and the Chinese Communists out of the thousands of miles of Ladakh they have seized.

The same pressure that led to the Indian attacks on Goa was building up for immediate action against Pakistan and Red China.

Minuteman Back On Time

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States yesterday put its Minuteman "instant ICBM" program back on time.

The seventh intercontinental-range Minuteman, fired from a concrete-lined hole in the ground, smacked into the target area, 3,200 miles away.

A senior official said the shot "put us right back on schedule."

Segregation Or Nothing

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) —The city plans to remove seats from waiting rooms, padlock toilets and plug water fountains at the municipal airport, where a federal judge has banned segregation.

And, said city attorney Calvin Whiteself, the airport restaurant will be closed if there is a concerted effort to integrate it.

U.S. District Judge Frank Johnson outlawed segregation at the terminal as a result of a suit brought by the federal government at the request of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

He also directed that race-designating signs on separate facilities be removed.

Police Hunt Pagans

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) — Police are hunting for members of a pagan cult in the belief that a woman found stabbed to death two weeks ago may have been the victim of a ritual "full moon murder."

The cult, which has a wide following here, worships the Polynesian god of fertility named Tiki. When the moon is full, Tiki is said to demand a blood sacrifice.

FULL MOON

Maureen Dutton, 27, was found stabbed to death with 14 knife wounds on Dec. 22, a night when the moon was almost full.

Chief Det. Supt. James Morris appealed to members of the cult "to come forward to help in the investigation"—the equivalent, in British police parlance, of a statement that they are wanted for questioning.

Police have cobbed coffee bars and clubs for Tiki cultists, many of whom are university students.

GROTESQUE IMAGES

Tiki disciples keep wooden images of the grotesquely-shaped god, usually about eight inches high, in their homes. Some abase themselves before the idol and burn incense.

Other ornaments used in the rituals include necklaces of polished sea shells. The more fervent worshippers have a cult mark tatooed on their arms.

Tiki worshippers have been known to visit the Duttons. Mrs. Dutton's husband is a research chemist and a doctor of philosophy.

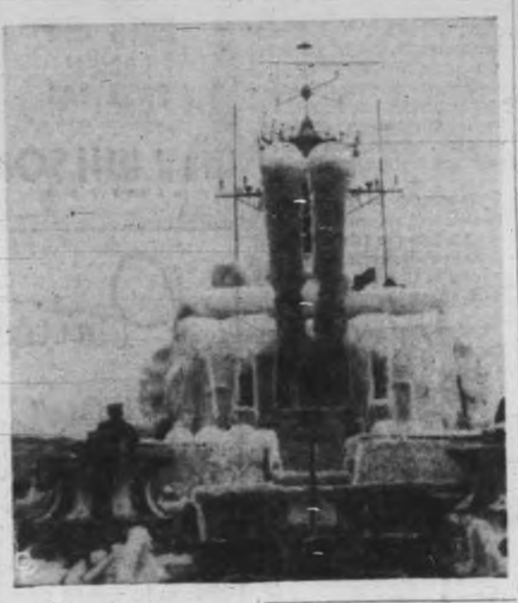
Two hundred tons of ice cover the destroyer Nootka as it returns to Halifax after exercises in Arctic waters. The defence department said it was part of a sea training program in all climates.



Magazine Job

Canadian Hires Lord Snowdon

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret's husband, former society photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones, will return to professional photography as a paid artistic adviser to the Canadian-owned London Sunday Times starting Feb. 1, it was announced yesterday.

The announcement that the princess' husband — now the Earl of Snowdon—was taking a job with the paper headed by Canadian publisher Roy Thomson, was made by Maj. John Griffin, press secretary at Clarence House, home of Queen Mother Elizabeth.

DISCUSSED

Griffin said Lord Snowdon had discussed the job with the Sunday Times, with Princess Margaret and with Queen Elizabeth before accepting it.

Lord Snowdon will also retain his current post as an unpaid adviser to the Council for Industrial Design.

The editor of the Sunday Times, C. D. Hamilton, described Lord Snowdon's new post as a "real job of work" and termed it "the logical sequel to Lord Snowdon's earlier photographic career."

NOT 'HOT' SIDE

Hamilton added that Lord Snowdon would occasionally take pictures himself in his new post, but is "not going to work on the hot side of newspaper work, which might be an embarrassment to him.

"We shall not be taking advantage in any way of his connection with the Royal family by way of asking him to take any royal pictures."

Tornado Rips Florida

CRESTVIEW, Fla. (UPI)— A tornado tore into this northwest Florida city yesterday, killing a baby girl, injuring at least 25 persons and cutting a wide swath of destruction through "the whole northside of town."

Sheriff Ray Wilson said the damage was so widespread "you can't tell whether there's 100 or 200 homes demolished, but there's at least 100."

At least 25 persons were treated for injuries.

Happy Now

He Talked Himself Into Jail Headstand

REGINA (CP) — Edward Adrian Poitras, 31, of Moose Jaw, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of false pretences. He asked to pay a fine instead of going to jail.

"You'll have to go to jail," said Magistrate E. L. Elliott.

"I have the money to pay for a fine and if a fine will not be imposed I'll change my plea," Poitras said.

"Okay, but if you're convicted, you'll be sent to jail."

"I'll plead guilty then," Poitras said.

"I sentence you to 15 days," the magistrate said.

"Fifteen days — that's not very much."

"Okay then, I'll make it 30 days."

"Thirty days—why, I can serve that standing on my head."

"If you can, then try 60 days."

"That isn't very much. I can also serve that standing on my head."

"Okay, then you'll go to jail for three months. Are you happy now?" said the magistrate.

"Yes, I am. Thank you very much," said Poitras.

Indonesia Rumbles

Dutch Warned To Surrender

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) —The Indonesian air force yesterday banned all flights over easternmost Indonesia and a government spokesman warned the Netherlands to negotiate the surrender of West Irian (Dutch New Guinea) or face "total capitulation."

Air force spokesman Maj. Agus Suroto said the ban on flights over Indonesian territory closest to New Guinea was in line with President Sukarno's mobilization order for the "liberation" campaign.

He said the action invalidated all permits previously issued for flights in the area and warned that violation of the ban would bring "serious and firm" action by the Indonesian air force. The air force recently was reinforced with Soviet-made MiG jet fighters.

Sukarno appealed to the nation Dec. 19 to mobilize for the fight to "liberate" the Dutch-controlled New Guinea territory he claimed is part of Indonesia. The armed forces have already been alerted for possible action.

'Wise Men' Urged To Find Solution

Willing To Talk

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— Indonesia has informed acting secretary-general U Thant that it remains willing to negotiate a settlement of its dispute over West New Guinea, but insists on advance assurance that such negotiations would lead to Indonesia's taking over the territory.

THE HAGUE (UPI) — A group of prominent Dutch, in an unprecedented move, has sent a petition to Queen Juliana asking for the appointment of a commission of "wise men' to help solve the dispute with Indonesia over Dutch New Guinea, authoritative sources said last night.

The sources, who asked that their identity be withheld, said the group included some of Holland's 11 provincial governors, mayors of some large cities and members of the judiciary.

Two Bodies Brought Up

TIMMINS, (CP) — The bodies of two Timmins gold miners were recovered from under tons of wet sand in the Paymaster Consolidated Mine Friday, after an all-night search by their fellow-workers.

The victims were shift boss John Barkley, 47, and Rondanino Palumbo, 50.

Flu at the Top

Political power doesn't mean immunity to flu. Down with the flu yesterday were Prime Minister Macmillan in London and Prime Minister Khrushchev in Moscow, but doctors said they're both well enough to work at home.

'It's a Miracle'

Born with Cancer Babies Recovered

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The cases of two girl babies born with widespread cancer and apparently cured before their first birthdays—were disclosed Friday by their physician.

The parents of one child called it a miracle due to prayers of friends.

The parents of the other attributed the recovery to quick surgery and radiation treatments.

HOSPITAL LAUDED

The physician who removed tumors from both infants said the credit was due largely to "the enlightened attitude and excellent facilities of the hospital in which they were born — the "Little Company of Mary Hospital" of suburban Torrance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Calise of nearby Lomita said: "We know it is an act of God that saved our daughter Lucia Angela."

Lucia was born a year ago with cancer in her stomach, neck and bone marrow. The obstetrician had to breathe into her mouth to bring her to life.

Three days later she underwent surgery, even though doctors told the Calises she had almost no chance.

Now her physician said: "As far as we can tell she is free of cancer."

He Tried Hard To Die

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 62-year-old Brooklyn man swallowed lye, slashed his wrists and throat and gripped an electrified subway third rail in unsuccessful suicide attempts.

Police said Isidore Lubin was in critical condition.

He was pulled from the third rail by a subway motorman and a conductor.

They Lost 11 Days in 1752

Time Is Catching Up

Christmas Comes to Outer Banks

RODANTHE, N.C. (UPI)— Christmas came yesterday in this little community on the Outer Banks but it will not be celebrated until today.

The Jan. 5 Christmas or "Old Christmas" has been observed on the Outer Banks, so the story has it, since 1732, when the present calendar, which eliminated 11 days, was introduced.

Since that date, the hardy folks of the Outer Banks have celebrated "Old Christmas" on the eve of the Epiphany.

But time has caught up with the Outer Banks and many of its residents have moved to the mainland. And that is the reason why "Old Christmas" will be celebrated today.

The families want to give all the relatives a chance to return to the Outer Banks for the annual ceremony which includes the pounding of an ancient drum and the appearance of "Old Buck."

Legend has it that "Old Buck," the Christmas bull, packs a mean wallop for those children who have been naughty during the year.

No Alibis for So-So Season

Down from Heights Doesn't Bother Unitas

By OSCAR FRALEY

HOLLYWOOD BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—When you've hit the heights and, while still young and strong, you come back to the field somewhat because of circumstances beyond your control, you might think it would rankle a man.

But Johnny Unitas, still the best quarterback in pro football despite a so-so year, shows no sign of inner distress. Nor does he alibi.

"I'm not satisfied," he said as he played in the National Football League players' golf tournament. "But, then, I'd never be satisfied, no matter how well things went. I always feel I should have done better."

Back in 1958 and 1959, when he led the Baltimore Colts to two straight championships in the tough pro league, he was the idol of the Baltimore fans. The first year, the Colts beat the Giants in a "sudden death" playoff. The second, as they won again, Unitas completed a record 32 touchdown passes and set a mark of 3,099 yards gained.

There were nothing but hosannahs for the former University of Louisville star who was cut free by the Pittsburgh Steelers and was playing for $6 a game on the Pittsburgh sandlots when Colt general manager Don Kellett signed him merely by making a telephone call.

But this year, as the Colts floundered, Unitas' record for touchdown passes was tied by the Eagles' Sonny Jurgensen. The Philadelphia passer also broke Unitas' yardage record with a total of 3,723 yards.

And the fans began to get "on" Johnny.

Those who howled overlooked a number of facts. For several years, Unitas and his favorite receiver, Ray Berry, were the most feared passing combination in the game. But Berry had a knee operation before the season started, missed the first two games and couldn't generate his old time dazzling speed.

NO THREATS

The Colt blocking was far below par as the team began to slow down. There were no great running threats to take the heat off Unitas. And Johnny, who formerly could outwait his first and second receivers to hit the long man for the big play, had to get rid of the ball quickly or eat it. The result was that Berry didn't catch a single touchdown pass.

Then, too, Unitas dislocated a finger on his passing hand and was handicapped for more than a month. He also hurt his arm, and kept it quiet for fear that it would be regarded as an alibi.

"I guess it was simply a matter, in my case, of the defence catching up to the offence," he shrugged off 1961, typically giving credit rather than building up his own trials and tribulations.

But Kellett put his finger on one of the crippling spots when he said, as he, too, swung his way around the golf course, "we'd like to have a big running back."

As to Unitas, labeled by Green Bay Packer coach Vince Lombardi as "the best in the game," Kellett agreed wholeheartedly.

HE'S THE BEST

"If all the quarterbacks were up for trade, who would you take ahead of him? Nobody, that's who. He's the best of them all."

"It's an old cliche," chipped in Otto Graham, once the passing star of the Browns, "but nobody passes while he's sitting on the seat of his pants."

Meaning, as all of them agree, that while Baltimore finished in a third place tie in its division, Johnny U still is the top man in his department.

Big Comeback at Curling Club

Sturrock Rink Upsets Tony Gutoski

By JIM TANG

Tony Gutoski, 1958 provincial champion and several times the Vancouver Island representative in provincial playdowns, should have been ready to represent the Victoria Curling Club in the Island Consols playdowns.

Gutoski and his rink of Gary Leibel, Gordie Robertson and Danny Martel missed qualifying for the Island final at Nanaimo, Jan. 20 and 21, by blowing a 6-2 lead and losing to Ken Sturrock, 8-10, last night in the finals of the club playdowns, which started with 12 rinks competing in a double knockout series.

Gutoski won four games in a row to win the "A" section while Sturrock became the "B" section winner in last night's early draw by ousting Steve Hayhurst, 11-6.

Sturrock and his supporting cast of Laurie Perlette, Ralph Schmidt and Bill Young were sharp all the way against Hayhurst, who complicated matters for himself by being badly off his usual form.

Hayhurst blanked the first end on purpose but the strategy backfired when he was light with two shots on the second end and Sturrock stole three. Two misses by Perlette and one by Sturrock on the sixth end enabled Hayhurst to count four and take a 6-4 lead. But Sturrock threw through on the seventh rather than try for one.

This time, the strategy worked. A miss and a half shot by vice-skip Gar Taylor enabled Sturrock to get the chance for the two he was after and when Hayhurst wrecked with his last rock, Sturrock picked up three for a 7-5 lead.

LOSE SHARPNESS

That left Sturrock needing two wins over Gutoski to reach the Island finals but "High-Pockets" and his rink seemed to have lost the sharpness which featured their win over Hayhurst.

Last night's final game was almost decided early. On the third end, with the score at 1-1, Sturrock missed a wide-open takeout for a three and Gutoski stole one to go ahead, 2-1. On the fourth end, Gutoski had shot rock in the back four-foot ring with two rocks in the front ring. A draw seemed in order but Sturrock elected to go after the guarding rock and was again a trifle wide and Gutoski moved into a 5-1 lead.

TOUGH SPOT

Not many rinks can spot Gutoski that kind of a lead and hope to come out on top but Sturrock's crew apparently didn't realize that.

After exchanging singles on the fifth and sixth ends to leave it at 6-2, Sturrock started his comeback with two on the seventh, gave up one to a draw on the eighth and took another pair on the ninth to get to 6-7.

COLD DRAW

By now, Sturrock's rink was outcurling Gutoski, who had to make a cold draw for one on the 10th with three opposition counters in the house to regain his two-up lead.

It wasn't enough. Sturrock picked up two on the 11th to tie and when it came down to one rock each on the home end, Sturrock had a rock partially in the back eight-foot. He put his second in the front ring, leaving Gutoski with a draw to one and needing about six or eight inches of the eight-foot. Gutoski slid one through the house.

The final game is set for tonight at 6.30.

Hayhurst got one back on the ninth but Sturrock, who was coming up with big shots when they were needed the most, got it back on the 10th when he tapped shot rock with his last rock to count one with Hayhurst laying two.

SPECTACULAR DOUBLE

That left it 8-6 heading into the 11th end, and set up a spectacular, and rather fortunate, double by Sturrock. Hayhurst, laying one in the four-foot ring with an opposition rock tight behind and to the side, drew in perfectly, in front of his own to lay two.

Sturrock went after the double but was narrow. However, he had enough weight to clear a rock in front by a whisker and got the double from the inside, stick and lay three. When Hayhurst failed to make the rings with his draw, Sturrock headed home with an insurmountable 11-6 lead.

Tonight's game will leave only two places undecided in the six-rink Island final. The Victoria winner will join Brock Wilson of Nanaimo, Fred Duncan of Duncan and Grant Macdonald of the Comox Valley Curling Club in the finals.

Still to be decided are winners at Esquimalt Municipal Centre and the Alberni Valley Curling Club.

THREE LEFT

At Alberni Valley, three rinks are left in the running in the double-draw knockout. Bill Wood is out to the final in both "A" and "B" sections with Ed Filipchuk and Warren Paul as his opposition. If Wood wins both sides, he is it. If he loses one or both games, the winner will be decided in a two-out-of-three final. Two games are scheduled tomorrow with the playoff, if necessary, set for the following Sunday.

At Esquimalt, where some rinks have completed the round-robin series between eight entrants and others have as many as three games left, three rinks are left.

John Clint's RCN rink is standing by with a 5-2 record hoping that both Jack Moir and Wes Young, 4-1 and 3-1, respectively, will lose at least once more in their remaining games. Clint won last night to keep alive Moir and Young are both scheduled to play in games tonight.

Seals Start to See Success In Battle for 'Frisco Fans

That Golden Gate definitely is beginning to look a bit more golden to Coley Hall, Max MacNab and the San Francisco Seals.

True, they're still in last place in the southern division of the Western Hockey League, two points behind Los Angeles Blades. But they played the Blades to a 1-1 overtime standoff last night and there were 6,327 paid admissions looking on.

GREAT GAME

The fans saw a rough and tumble encounter and some sparkling goaltending by that old master, Marcel Pelletier, guarding the Los Angeles cage.

Pelletier made 49 saves, 40 of them in regulation time. The only shot to get by him was by Bob Girard at 9.31 of the third period.

Real Chevrefils scored in the first period for Los Angeles.

Calgary Stampeders, apparently under a full head of steam, won their seventh straight game last night in Vancouver, blasting the weakened Vancouver Canucks, 7-3. Stamps stayed three points behind northern division leading Edmonton Flyers with the victory. Flyers knocked over the visiting Seattle Totems, 6-3.

Calgary defenceman Fred Hucul scored his 13th and 14th goals of the season and Ron Leopold his 12th and 13th. Bert Fizzell, Norm Johnson and George McAvoy accounted for the others.

Rookie Jim Baird counted his 22nd and 23rd goals of the season for Vancouver and Bob McCusker counted their other.

Canucks played with only three defencemen as Dale Anderson was in Edmonton for a shoulder examination, forward Eddie Dorohoy sat out the game with an injured foot and Frank Roggeveen has been recalled to Springfield.

Naden Rink Sweeps Spiel

An unheralded rink skipped by LS Doug Amos of HMCS Naden scored the first-ever clean sweep in the ninth annual RCN Pacific Command Bonspiel, which came to an end late Thursday evening at the curling rink at Esquimalt Municipal Centre.

With AB Ed Tetreault as vice-skip, LS Gordie McMann at second and LS Denver Collins leading off, Amos won 10 straight games to win both primary events and the Grand Aggregate.

EXTRA END

Amos' rink defeated a quartette skipped by PO Wally Stubbs in the "A" primary and then took a 13-end victory from a rink skipped by Sgt. Gordon McKay in "B" primary to win both the Six Mile House and Yarrows Trophies.

PO Tom Prokopow, LS Bob Bentley and LS Ernie Cormack completed Stubbs' rink, which took a close decision from LS Wes Young in the semi-finals of "A" primary. Amos reached the final in this event by defeating the rink led by PO Walter Fink.

McKay was supported by LCDR Bob Jones, LCDR Laurie Brown and Sgt. Norm Peterson in the "B" primary final. Rinks skipped by Stubbs and CPO Frank Barron were the beaten semi-finalists.

A rink from VU33 at Patricia Bay, skipped by John Tucker and including T. J. Clark, Fred Clarke and Garry Youngson won the "A" secondary event, and the Stocker's Trophy by defeating the rink entered by LS Jack Good. Curling with Good were PO Russ Wilson, PO Mike Zerbak and LS Marler Ellis.

Skip AB Frank Burger, supported by AB John Clint, LS Harry Woznow and LCDR Norm Stewardson won the "B" secondary, and the Victoria Machinery Depot Trophy by outscoring Good's rink. Good had to go to sea on the day of the finals and his rink had to curl without him in both events.

Beaten semi-finalists in the Stocker's event were rinks skipped by LCDR Herb Norman and Lieut. George Slocomb. Beaten semi-finalists in the VMD event were rinks skipped by AB Bill Griffey and AB Jim Keith.

At the wind-up social, prizes were presented by Capt. J. C. Pratt, representing the Flag Officer Pacific Coast, and Mr. W. Hollick.

UBC Rowers In Training

VANCOUVER (CP) — University of British Columbia oarsmen start working out next week for the British Empire Games.

More than 30 candidates are expected to begin the spartan training program which paid off in gold medals for UBC eights in the last two games.

Coach Laurie West said Friday he has planned a month by month schedule which he hopes will lead to another great triumph in the next Empire Games in Australia in November.

A win for UBC this year would be a memorable paragraph in rowing history. No country has ever won three consecutive B.E.G. gold medals in the eights and only England can match UBC's present record of two straight victories.

Vikings Return to League To Find Things Tougher

Victoria University Vikings returned to the Esquimalt Commercial Hockey League at the Sports Centre last night and found it a lot tougher than it was when they left.

Vikings, who took a long break for examinations and the holidays, had to scrap for a goal late in the third period to gain a 4-4 tie with last-place Navy before 1,057 fans. In the preliminary game, Esquimalt Chiefs beat Army, 6-1, and cut Vikings' lead to one point.

Navy scored two goals in the second period to tie the game at 3-3, then went ahead at the 15-minute mark of the third on a goal by Art Parmour.

POWER PLAY

But Navy's Bill McFarland took his third penalty of the period at 15.29, and Lorne Waller scored on the power play 58 seconds later to salvage the tie.

Keith Neilgan, Jack Blair and Stu McFarland got the other goals for Vikings and John Morris, Larry Crossweight and Bob Cummings scored for the Sailors.

The Chiefs had a much easier time of it, taking 36 shots at Army's Ken Villiger. They had a 2-0 lead at the end of the first period, gave up a goal to Bob Larson in the second, and scored four straight in the third.

Dick Couch scored two, and Ben Price, Les Corby, Arnold Elliott and Bob Vining got the others. Vining also had an assist and took over the league lead with 14 points.

Jaycees, Kinsmen

Duncan Clubs Start Drive For $250,000 Public Hall

DUNCAN — Local service clubs are showing eager interest in promoting construction of a $250,000 community hall for this district.

At a meeting scheduled early in February under sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Kinsmen, representatives from all service clubs and other organizations will be invited to discuss the possibility of constructing a hall.

Jaycees point out co-operation of all groups is essential to fund raising and other organizational activities.

Arnie Williams, past president of the junior chamber, said the cost will be shared by the two senior governments if the hall is also used as an agricultural hall and built on the grounds of the Cowichan Agricultural Society.

He estimated the share to be borne locally would be about $80,000. Following the February meeting the provincial government will be approached to provide more definite information on outlay and cost.

Local Share of Cost Could Be Mere $80,000

Spit Link Crumbles

Chief Halts Gravelling Fears Road Seizure

CAMPBELL RIVER — A department of highways gravelling crew has been ordered off a revenue-producing road through an Indian reservation near here because elders of the Indian band believe acceptance of such aid might alienate control of the thoroughfare.

The road links Campbell River village with Campbell River Split, site of Painter's Resort and the bases of two airlines.

PAID FEE

The resort and one of the airlines have each been paying the Indian band $100 a year for use of the access route. The third airline, which has not been using the spit for as long, has been paying nothing but is prepared to match the $100 fee.

Recently the Indian band asked the three concerns to pay a total of $1,500 a year between them.

Provincial government trucks arrived at the reserve section of the road to spread gravel but Chief William Roberts ordered them off. He believes the province may try to seize the right-of way if it starts maintaining it.

Meanwhile, the condition of the road has so deteriorated that it is being used only by essential traffic.

Took Pot Straight To Police

COURTENAY — A charge of stealing against Alex Bartko was dismissed by County Court Judge A. L. Hanna on Thursday.

The charge arose from a blackjack game at Tahsis in which stakes rose to over $1,800.

It was laid by dealer John Malicki who claimed Bartko, at the end of the game, took the pot of $946 and put it in his pocket with his own money.

Bartko claimed there was cheating and felt he had a right to the money as a result.

He took the money to RCMP headquarters.

Dam Site Cleared

Special Pipe Arrives For $800,000 Project

PORT ALBERNI — Delivery is now being made of 24-inch steel pipe to be used in the city's $800,000 waterworks expansion program.

The cost of the pipe, $180,236 is the largest single item in the waterworks bylaw passed last August.

40-FOOT LENGTHS

Each section of the asphalt-coated, enamel-lined main is 40 feet in length.

A storage yard has been prepared near the city dump and installation of the main is expected to get underway about Jan. 15.

Plans are to complete the project, which will tie in Bainbridge Lake to the municipal water system, by late summer of 1962.

The site has been cleared for the dam at Bainbridge Lake. The spillway will be located some distance from the dam and will involve a rock cut to make a new outlet.

With the pipe being delivered at the rate of one truck load of 12 sections each working day, it is expected that delivery will take about two months. Each section weighs a ton and three quarters.

Brig. Bishop On Final Inspection

COURTENAY — Militia units in Courtenay, Nanaimo and Duncan will be inspected by Brig. J. W. Bishop, B.C. area commander, later this month.

Army spokesmen said this will be the final visit by Brig. Bishop to up-Island units since his retirement is slated for March 1.

No Link to Party

$30,000 Freighter Fire Not Arson Say Probers

Arson has been ruled out in the $30,000 fire aboard the British freighter King David, tied up at the Harmac pulp mill dock Jan. 1.

Investigation by the inspector, A. H. Owen-Jones, also failed to produce any evidence positively linking the blaze with a shipboard party held New Year's Eve.

B.C. deputy fire marshall H. Kendall Jenns said in Vancouver last night: "We know they had a party on New Year's Eve—who didn't?—but we can establish no criminal connection between the two incidents."

North Cedar volunteers fought the stuborn early-morning blaze for two hours.

Daring Theft Stuns Victim

NANAIMO—Thieves shoplifted almost $300 worth of merchandise from a Nanaimo TV shop yesterday.

John McFegan of McFegan TV told RCMP a television set, transistor radio, and portable tape recorder were stolen from the shop between two and 5 p.m. Thursday.

Mr. McFegan said he was "stunned" to learn of the daring robbery.

Deadline Set

TORONTO (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Union Friday set a strike deadline of Jan. 12 in its dispute with the Ford Motor Co. of Canada over 7,000 workers in Toronto, Oakville and Windsor.

Group Blasts Lay-Off

TOFINO—The Tofino Chamber of Commerce has launched a protest with the B.C. Minister of Labor against the laying-off of four local power-saw operators who were employed by B.C. Hydro on the Alberni-Tofino powerline project.

The chamber says B.C. Hydro was forced to lay the men off when the Electrical Workers' Union produced four senior members from the Alberni area.

Two of the four operators laid off had recently purchased new power saws on the strength of their powerline jobs.

Charge Dismissed

Intent Lacking In Dog's Death

PORT ALBERNI — A cocker spaniel, killed with a hammer while foraging on a neighbor's compost heap, was the subject of a court case here Friday morning.

Magistrate W. E. MacLeod dismissed the charge against Jack E. Harris who pleaded not guilty to wilfully killing the animal, an unlicensed, female purebred spaniel, the property of Mrs. J. S. Butters, 245 Rogers Street.

NO INTENT

In dismissing the charge Magistrate MacLeod said he was satisfied there had been no intention on the part of the accused to kill the dog. According to evidence given in court, Mr. Harris had thrown a hammer which had struck the animal on the back of the head.

During the trial, the question of whether the Sheep Protection Act applied in the case was debated by defence counsel F. Armour Ford and city prosecutor E. A. Dinsmore.

Mr. Ford claimed that if the Act applied there was no case in view of the fact that it gives any person the right to kill an unlicensed dog found off the owner's property. Mr. Dinsmore contended that the city's dog licensing by-law superseded the Act. The Magistrate stated, after dismissing the charge on grounds that intent had not been shown, he was inclined to believe the matter did come under the Sheep Protection Act.

Youth Told He Lied Fined $50

NANAIMO — A youth was told he lied in police court by Magistrate Beevor-Potts yesterday.

The magistrate was hearing the case of Thomas M. Janos, who changed his plea from innocent to guilty on a charge of being a minor in possession of liquor.

When Janos first appeared in court he claimed liquor found in his car had been put there by his father and that he had no knowledge of it.

His father backed up his story in court.

Yesterday he changed his plea and his story. He admitted he had consumed some of the beer.

Magistrate Beevor-Potts fined him $50, and said, "You have deliberately lied about it, and I have no sympathy with you. Next time you come into court, tell the truth."

Youth Awaits Sentencing In Duncan

DUNCAN — A 17-year-old local juvenile in adult court, Freddie Edwards, pleaded guilty to two charges of breaking and entering and to a charge of stealing a car.

Accused was remanded in custody until next Tuesday for sentence. Police told court Edwards broke into the City Exchange on Dec. 3 and into Westwell's Store on Dec. 17, stealing merchandise amounting to $50 and $142 respectively.

On Dec. 26 accused stole a car from the lot of Wilson Motors, drove to Honeymoon Bay and abandoned the automobile on his return to Duncan. The car was found with damage estimated at $100.

The court was told accused had already been sentenced to two years less a day at Oakalla prison farm Thursday at Lake Cowichan for stealing $200 worth of merchandise from Cuthbert's Store, Honeymoon Bay, on Dec. 21.

City's Boom-Bust Pattern Breaking?

More People Working Than in Past Decade

By TED PULFORD

In the files of national employment service offices throughout Vancouver Island this morning lie sets of neatly tabulated figures which may provide a striking insight into the economic prospects for 1962.

Year-end unemployment figures, a sensitive barometer of the Island community's prosperity, indicate a healthier employment level for this time of year than at any time in the past decade.

They also indicate, the classic pattern of summer boom-winter doldrums may be near the breaking point at last.

All but one of the Island's NES offices reports a drop of some 30 per cent in the number of people seeking work, compared with the same period a year ago.

The pattern revealed by Victoria's figures is most striking of all.

At the end of 1961, 3,956 men and women were seeking work. A year earlier, 5,711 were registered as jobless—a drop of more than 30 per cent.

Up to yesterday, 4,000 claimants had applied to the local office for unemployment insurance while a year ago the total stood at 5,300.

Throughout the Island, the same relatively buoyant condition exists.

NES manager Robbie Robinson said from Duncan last night his jobless rolls had dropped by more than 300 to 1,130 at year's end.

Much of the improvement, Mr. Robinson said, is attributable to the continuing high level of work being done by the heavy timber industry.

Firm Lumber Market

Firmness of eastern seaboard and United States lumber markets are considered primarily responsible.

Other Duncan industries mirror the trend — with the notable exception of construction. The local pulp mill is churning out products at 80 per cent of capacity and secondary industries are busy.

While construction in the area is dragging somewhat, experts look to a better season than ever this spring.

In Nanaimo, according to NES chief executive Jock Clarke, the employment situation is both buoyant for this time of year and relatively stable.

"There are 1,578 looking for work here now while 2,000 were jobless a year ago," he said.

Nanaimo's construction industry, pressed by urgent contracts, has jumped the spring gun by several weeks and should be working at near capacity by the end of February.

Most of Nanaimo's loggers worked right through the Christmas-New Year's week.

From Port Alberni's NES manager, Charles Harman, comes word that busy mills and a bustling construction industry have chipped unemployment rolls from 1,465 a year ago to 997 at present.

"Construction plans for new schools, blocks and a medical centre augur well for the year," Mr. Harman said.

Alone Among Others

Alone among NES centres, reporting little improvement, is Ted Musgrove's office in Courtenay. Last year's jobless total of 1,760 remains almost the same.

Prospects are good, Mr. Musgrove said, but bad weather has curtailed high-country logging operations so far this winter.

Why is the pattern referred to earlier different in terms of these figures?

Using Victoria's figures as an example, it is noted that the percentage of increase in unemployment between August and November in some years has risen by as much as 100 per cent.

Unemployment during this critical, four-month period soared by a whopping average of 90 per cent in the years from 1954 to 1957.

In 1961, the increase during the period was only 18 per cent.

What is happening?

Employment experts here believe that balanced use of the labor force by industry can take as much credit as an upsurge in the economy.

This year, they point out, a combination of beneficial factors will be responsible for the prosperity so confidently forecast.

And because of this, they think it's likely to last a while.

$272,000 To Build 'Beauty'

Provincial cabinet yesterday voted the Capital Improvement District Commission some $272,000 for beautification and development projects in Greater Victoria.

Largest project will be the $125,000 beautification of Douglas Street between Hillside and Saanich Road, covering the cost of tree purchases and planting, construction of boulevards, relocation of side walks where necessary, installation of a sprinkler system and median traffic control.

SOUTHEAST CORNER

Another $5,000 has been provided for the beautification of the southeast corner of Oswego and Belleville Streets. A sum not exceeding $2,200 has been set aside for the installation of sidewalks, curbs and grass at Cattle Point in the Uplands.

Cabinet also added $140,000 for sundry land acquisitions.

Bustin' Out All Over

Plumb in the middle of Victoria's mild winter, 16 plum trees along St. Andrew's, near Simcoe Street, have burst into bloom. Freckle-faced Frank Deacon, 11, of 5 Alma Place, couldn't believe his eyes and climbed into one tree for a closer look.—(Colonist photo.)

Yarrows Ltd. is modernizing its facilities for building small ships in anticipation of a rapid growth in the demand for bigger fishboats and tugs in B.C. waters.

General manager John Wallace said yesterday the yard is spending $150,000 on structural alterations to two covered building berths, new wiring and additional cranes for heavy lifting.

The modernization program is aimed at improving the yard's efficiency in a field where it has not always been fully competitive in the past.

He said indications are that more larger fishboats and tugboats will be built on this coast soon.

Reduced construction costs are the key to a greater share of this growing field.

The improvements include addition of a second 10-ton crane in No. 1 building berth. The present five-ton crane in No. 2 building berth will be replaced by one with a lift capacity of 10 tons.

STANDS AT 750

General employment in Yarrows stands at 750 with no immediate prospect of a sizeable reduction.

Meanwhile, work began this week at Yarrows on construction of the $1,800,000 fisheries research vessel G. B. Reid.

The 177-foot vessel is scheduled for delivery in October.

TOTAL WILL JUMP

About 30 men are employed but the total will jump to 75 in several weeks and reach 100 before it is completed. The ship will be ready for launching in five months.

It will carry a crew of 36 men, including scientists and will operate in Northwest Pacific waters.

Labor Backs Griffin

Victoria Labor Council has endorsed Ald. Michael Griffin's fight to have aldermen and mayor of Victoria given increased indemnities.

In a letter to city council yesterday, the VLC noted "the great need to keep the opportunity of running for public office as open to all citizens as possible."

Tars Away

Ships Start Long Trip

Three destroyer escorts of RCN Pacific Command left Victoria yesterday on a 3½ month, 15,000-mile cruise that will take them to Far Eastern ports.

The 750 officers and men of HMC ships Assiniboine, Margaree and Ottawa will be participating in the longest peacetime training cruise made by ships from this coast since the Second World War.

Ships will visit Hawaii, Midway, Japan, the Philippines, Burma, Ceylon, Malaya and Siam.

Army Picks City's Stock

Lieut. D. M. Stock of Victoria has been appointed paymaster at B.C. area headquarters of the Canadian Army, officials said yesterday.

He is now serving with the Royal Canadian army pay corps in the Middle East.

Scouts Plan Bottle Drive

A bottle drive will be held by 3rd Arbutus (View Royal) group of the Boy Scouts starting at 10 a.m. today from Admirals Road to Six Mile House to Kingham Place on Helmcken Road at the Trans-Canada Highway.

Oak Bay Issues Call For Civil Defenders

Oak Bay's civil defence organization is being activiated immediately and volunteers to man the entire organization are urgently required.

"There are many interesting positions, calling for initiative and ability, available if we are to create a first-rate corps," co-ordinator G. O. White said yesterday.

Particulars and enrolment forms are available from the municipal hall, 2167 Oak Bay Avenue.

Tax Prospect Good

Victoria's Sitting Pretty

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Victoria seems to be sitting pretty under the provincial government's new assessment formula with a strong prospect of a drop in taxes.

Major factor in speculation that taxes will drop is the heavy increase in assessments in the three surrounding municipalities.

* * *

Preliminary figures indicate land assessments will increase 60 per cent in Saanich, 40 per cent in Oak Bay and 55 per cent in Esquimalt. Assessments on improvements are expected to remain about the same in Esquimalt, drop slightly in Oak Bay and increase slightly in Saanich.

Last year Victoria paid 48 per cent of school costs for the Greater Victoria school district, because the city's assessment was 48 per cent of the total assessment in Greater Victoria.

But under the new formula, Victoria's total is down slightly from last year's figure of almost $100,000,000.

This, together with the increases elsewhere may give Victoria a smaller percentage of the overall total and, consequently a smaller percentage of the schools budget.

The figures essential to unsnarl the situation are not yet available—such as the city's 1962 budget, the school board's budget and firm total assessment figures for the four municipalities.

* * *

But informed estimates are that the city's total assessment will drop slightly, meaning a slight increase — less than a mill — in the city's mill rate to raise last year's budget of $10,200,000.

The money saved on school costs could easily wipe out this slight increase.

Over the past 10 years, with the city's total assessment remaining more or less static and the assessments of the surrounding municipities increasing, the city's share of school costs has dropped from 60 per cent in 1950 to 48.6 per cent last year.

This year's percentage is expected to drop sharply, and officials confidently predict the city share will keep dropping through the years.

Bennett Certain Ottawa Dodging

By PETER BRUTON

Premier Bennett is apparently convinced Federal Finance Minister Fleming is deliberately dodging a face-to-face meeting to discuss Columbia River power project financing.

This became evident yesterday when the premier said: "I'm willing to meet him any time he can come here."

The latest move followed receipt of a telegram from Mr. Fleming stating he would be unable to travel to Toronto Jan. 12 for the discussions the premier had suggested.

The telegram, coupled with the fact Mr. Fleming and other cabinet ministers were "out of town" when Premier Bennett journeyed to Ottawa late last year, is believed to have convinced the premier the federal government is dodging.

He said a letter would be sent to Mr. Fleming suggesting a number of possible dates when the discussions could be held here.

It would be impossible for him to make another trip to the East, at least until after the next B.C. budget is brought down Feb. 9.

Mr. Fleming's telegram asked Mr. Bennett to suggest another date this month. Meanwhile, in Vancouver, External Affairs Minister Green said Mr. Bennett's stand was "a dictatorial approach."

B.C. Chooses Alcan Man

Appointment of R. S. S. Wilson, works manager for the Vancouver factory of the Aluminium Co. of Canada, as a member of the B.C. labor relations board and the board of industrial relations, was announced by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson yesterday.

Free Bus Issue

Firm Won't Bargain

DUNCAN — A spokesman for Hillcrest Lumber Co. said last night the firm does not plan to negotiate with the IWA over withdrawal of free transportation for 70 loggers who live in the Duncan area.

For the fourth consecutive morning yesterday the 70 showed up at the bus-route pickup points, waited for buses which were not coming, then went home.

The men are employed by Hillcrest at its Mesachie Lake operations and until last Tuesday received free transportation from points around Duncan to the Hillcrest camp, a distance of 23 miles.

FIRM FILED NOTICE

The bus service had been operating for about 20 years and the company last November filed notice it would be suspended.

Hillcrest president Hector Stone confirmed last night that under terms of the firm's contract with the IWA the 70 employees can be deprived of their seniority rights for having missed three consecutive days work without having been granted leave of absence.

"We have not yet decided whether the men will lose their seniority, but they could," Mr. Stone said.

CRIPPLED OPERATIONS

He said absence of the men from their jobs has all but crippled the firm's operations.

The company, he said, is not prepared to negotiate withdrawal of the free transportation service and will not restore it.

Earlier he said the service cost the company $6,000 a year and to the 70 men who used it, it represented a bonus not shared by employees who live around the company's Hillcrest camp.

HAS WON SUPPORT

From the IWA in Duncan yesterday came word that the local's decision to fight the free transportation issue has won the support of B.C. IWA president Joe Morris.

Weldon Jubenville, president of the Duncan local, said if the action of Hillcrest Lumber Co. remains unchallenged the move could affect some 1,100 other Duncan area loggers who also enjoy free transportation services from other companies.

WAS A CONDITION

He said the 70 Hillcrest men feel the service was a condition of employment, although it was not covered in the contract.

Another IWA official said that at a recent meeting of the 70 affected loggers they showed "determination and solidarity" in their demands for restoration of the bus service.

Car Strikes Young Boy Getting Off School Bus

DUNCAN—A seven-year-old boy, struck down by a car as he darted across the Trans-Canada Highway north of Mill Bay yesterday afternoon, was in fair condition in hospital here early today.

Richard Dupont had just alighted from a school bus southbound on the Trans-Canada Highway two miles north of Mill Bay.

STILL BLINKING

Witnesses say the bus' flashing red lights were still blinking as the boy ran east across the road into the path of an oncoming car which police say was driven by Mrs. Dorothy Castle, 251 Station, Duncan.

The accident occurred directly in front of the youngster's home on Nightingale Road at the highway junction.

SPED TO SCENE

Mrs. Morris Dupont rushed to the scene and cared for her son until the amulance arrived.

Police say young Richard was struck by the right front headlight of the northbound car.

Full extent of the victim's injuries has not yet been determined.

Jaycees Choose Best Pictures

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce judges this week came up with three winners out of 18 entries in the amateur photographers' Christmas lighting picture contest.

They were Peter Sandeman, Allen, 1170 Gerda Road; Dennis Taplin, 2506 Carrick Street, and Paul Tusar, 2940 Foul Bay Road.

Cold Shoulder Burns Aldermen

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

HIGHWAY PATROL: Some of our city aldermen are doing a not too slow burn over the fact they were left in the lurch by city police New Year's Day.

Seems two police cars were ordered to take the aldermen and Mayor R. B. Wilson around to the rest of the receptions.

Only one turned up and some city fathers were left on the sidewalk, as it were.

The word is they're determined to get to the bottom of the matter.

A SWINGIN' AFFAIR: For the past two years members of the Victoria local of the musician's union have been trying to get together for a night on the town.

Last night they finally made it.

It took quite a bit of conniving to convince the managers of those establishments which usually employ musicians to let their bands have a night off.

Vince Butler, trustee of the union, said it was only the second time in the 56-year-old history of the union that all members were free to attend a soiree.

And some 500 did.

The idea of the all-in party came up two years ago and ever since then the union has had the money to pay for the affair.

Last night was the first time the members had the time.

Sure, they had music last night—provided by a local bobby group so no professional musician would have to work. And the employers of bands in the area were all invited down to attend the gathering.

And a special member was honored.

Paddy Heaton, who won't give out his real age, is the oldest active musician in Victoria. So they called it Paddy Heaton Night.

SMILE SHOW: Maybe it isn't the most reliable indicator, but the broad smiles, lighthearted banter and friendliness being exuded by Premier Bennett and members of the treasury board these days could mean provincial revenues are in pretty good shape.

There was another recent indication as well. The government cheerfully paid out $6,000,000 in cash from its treasury for the Black Ball Ferries.

Even the civil servants are convinced they'll get a raise.

Then again, maybe it's just that Premier Bennett really means it when he says he's going to bring goodwill to provincial politics!

LIGHT SWITCH: Workmen around the legislative buildings are experimenting with methods of illuminating the leaded windows outside the leigslative chamber.

The effect of the lighting on one of the windows done so far is terrific. The idea of illuminating the windows came from historian-writer James K. Nesbitt.

AROUND TOWN: A number of readers, who apparently regard this corner as some sort of better business bureau, have complained their membership cards in a dinner-of-the-month plan operated by a city hotel were not honored on New Year's Day. Certainly there is nothing on the membership cards stating they are not valid on holidays. We checked the hotel concerned and the maitre d' said the reason the cards weren't accepted both on New Year's Day and Christmas Day was because special meals were served. One would think, however, the hotel could have saved a lot of inconvenience all round if it had advised members of the special restrictions beforehand.

RITUAL SLAYING PROBED IN U.K.

Civil War In France Outlaw Cry

ALGIERS (UPI) — The outlawed Secret Army Organization yesterday called for total civil war if necessary to prevent President Charles de Gaulle from turning over Algeria to the Moslems.

The call, in a pirate radio broadcast, came while European-Moslem terrorists continued to take a heavy toll. At least 12 more people were killed in Algeria's major cities during the day, bringing the death toll since New Year's to 81. About 200 more have been wounded in the past five days.

18 KILLED

On the military front, the French reported 18 soldiers killed and seven wounded in an ambush by National Liberation Front rebels at Setif in east Algeria. It was the third ambush this week by the Moslem rebel force, which, the French announced, cost 543 men killed or captured between Dec. 16 and 29.

The Secret army had plastered Algiers, Oran and other cities with posters calling for "general mobilization" against de Gaulle's plans for an independent Moslem Algeria.

It followed up with a broadcast on a frequency close to that of the French-operated state broadcasting station, declaring:

"Since the Paris government wants civil war, it can have it. Every European in Algeria should consider himself as mobilized."

Packed Bus Somersaults

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) —A packed bus rolled 600 feet into a gorge yesterday west of Sydney, killing three women and injuring 30 people. The bus somersaulted eight times, split open and stopped on the brink of another 500-foot gorge.

Training On Ice

Two hundred tons of ice cover the destroyer Nootka as it returns to Halifax after exercises in Arctic waters. The defence department said it was part of a sea training program in all climates.

500,000 Indians Stampede

PATNA, India (UPI) — Half a million Indians stampeded repeatedly yesterday in a panicky, suffocating mass of humanity surging forward to see and hear Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru address a meeting of his ruling Congress party.

The government withheld an immediate announcement on casualties, but a "large number" of persons including women and children was reported to have been crushed or suffocated. No deaths were mentioned, but a high toll was feared.

The huge throng had been herded into a compound made of corrugated iron sheets used for roofing. The compound, constructed to hold 100,000 persons, was separated into sections by log barriers and had only one narrow exit.

Thousands of people anxious for a closer look at Nehru and other party leaders surged forward suddenly in a mass of bodies that jammed closer together as it neared the exit leading toward the speaker's platform.

SCREAMS

An announcer seized a microphone and appealed for order "in the name of God" but the crowd surged through the narrow opening toward Nehru like water through a bursting dam. There were screams from those being trampled.

The stampeding multitude halted briefly, and during the lull Nehru tried to soothe the crowd. He reminded it that only discipline had enabled the Indian troops to capture Goa from the Portuguese. But his words went unheeded and the stampede resumed.

The angry prime minister left the meeting and the session was ordered closed. This touched off another surge forward by the crowd hastening to move forward before he disappeared from sight.

Signs down, doors locked

Segregation Or Nothing

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) —The city plans to remove seats from waiting rooms, padlock toilets and plug water fountains at the municipal airport, where a federal judge has banned segregation.

And, said city attorney Calvin Whitesell, the airport restaurant will be closed if there is a concerted effort to integrate it.

U.S. District Judge Frank Johnson outlawed segregation at the terminal as a result of a suit brought by the federal government at the request of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

He also directed that race-designating signs on separate facilities be removed.

Police Hunt Pagans

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) — Police are hunting for members of a pagan cult in the belief that a woman found stabbed to death two weeks ago may have been the victim of a ritual "full moon murder."

The cult, which has a wide following here, worships the Polynesian god of fertility named Tiki. When the moon is full, Tiki is said to demand a blood sacrifice.

FULL MOON

Maureen Dutton, 27, was found stabbed to death with 14 knife wounds on Dec. 22, a night when the moon was almost full.

Chief Det. Supt. James Morris appealed to members of the cult "to come forward to help in the investigation"—the equivalent, in British police parlance, of a statement that they are wanted for questioning.

Police have combed coffee bars and clubs for Tiki cultists, many of whom are university students.

GROTESQUE IMAGES

Tiki disciples keep wooden images of the grotesquely shaped god, usually about eight inches high, in their homes. Some abase themselves before the idol and burn incense.

Other ornaments used in the rituals include necklaces of polished sea shells. The more fervent worshippers have a cult mark tattooed on their arms.

Tiki worshippers have been known to visit the Duttons. Mrs. Dutton's husband is a research chemist and a doctor of philosophy.

Magazine Job

Canadian Hires Lord Snowdon

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret's husband, former society photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones, will return to professional photography as a paid artistic adviser to the Canadian-owned London Sunday Times starting Feb. 1, it was announced yesterday.

The announcement that the princess' husband — now the Earl of Snowdon — was taking a job with the paper headed by Canadian publisher Roy Thomson, was made by Maj. John Griffin, press secretary at Clarence House, home of Queen Mother Elizabeth.

DISCUSSED

Griffin said Lord Snowdon had discussed the job with the Sunday Times, with Princess Margaret and with Queen Elizabeth before accepting it.

Lord Snowdon will also retain his current post as an unpaid adviser to the Council for Industrial Design.

The editor of the Sunday Times, C. D. Hamilton, described Lord Snowdon's new post as a "real job of work" and termed it "the logical sequel to Lord Snowdon's earlier photographic career."

NOT 'HOT' SIDE

Hamilton added that Lord Snowdon would occasionally take pictures himself in his new post, but is "not going to work on the hot side of newspaper work which might be an embarrassment to him.

"We shall not be taking advantage in any way of his connection with the Royal family by way of asking him to take any royal pictures."

Tornado Rips Florida

CRESTVIEW, Fla. (UPI)—A tornado tore into this northwest Florida city yesterday, killing a baby girl, injuring at least 25 persons and cutting a wide swath of destruction through "the whole northside of town."

The storm struck as winter darkness descended, knocking out the town's power and communications systems. Hospitals and police worked from emergency power units.

Sheriff Ray Wilson said the damage was so widespread "you can't tell whether there's 100 or 200 homes demolished, but there's at least 100."

At least 25 persons were treated for injuries.

He Talked Himself Into Jail Headstand

REGINA (CP) — Edward Adrian Poitras, 31, of Moose Jaw, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of false pretences. He asked to pay a fine instead of going to jail.

"You'll have to go to jail," said Magistrate E. L. Elliott.

"I have the money to pay for a fine and if a fine will not be imposed I'll change my plea," Poitras said.

"Okay, but if you're convicted, you'll be sent to jail."

"I'll plead guilty then," Poitras said.

"I sentence you to 15 days," the magistrate said.

"Fifteen days — that's not very much."

"Okay then, I'll make it 30 days."

"Thirty days—why, I can serve that standing on my head."

"If you can, then try 60 days."

"That isn't very much. I can also serve that standing on my head."

"Okay, then you'll go to jail for three months. Are you happy now?" said the magistrate.

"Yes, I am. Thank you very much," said Poitras.

Red Planes Bring Aid

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) —The first Soviet plane seen here since the heyday of Patrice Lumumba arrived Friday, bringing doctors and medical supplies for flood victims in Oriental and Equator provinces.

The Russian aid is to be distributed through the United Nations.

Indonesia Rumbles

Dutch Warned To Surrender

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) —The Indonesian air force yesterday banned all flights over easternmost Indonesia and a government spokesman warned the Netherlands to negotiate the surrender of West Irian (Dutch New Guinea) or face "total capitulation."

Air force spokesman Maj. Agus Suroto said the ban on flights over Indonesian territory closest to New Guinea was in line with President Sukarno's mobilization order for the "liberation" campaign.

He said the action invalidated all permits previously issued for flights in the area and warned that violation of the ban would bring "serious and firm" action by the Indonesian air force. The air force recently was reinforced with Soviet-made MiG jet fighters.

Sukarno appealed to the nation Dec. 19 to mobilize for the fight to "liberate" the Dutch-controlled New Guinea territory he claimed is part of Indonesia. The armed forces have already been alerted for possible action.

'Wise Men' Urged To Find Solution

* * *

Willing To Talk

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Indonesia has informed Acting Secretary-General U Thant that it remains willing to negotiate a settlement of its dispute over West New Guinea, but insists on advance assurance that such negotiations would lead to Indonesia's taking over the territory.

THE HAGUE (UPI) — A group of prominent Dutch, in an unprecedented move, has sent a petition to Queen Juliana asking for the appointment of a commission of "wise men" to help solve the dispute with Indonesia over Dutch New Guinea, authoritative sources said last night.

The sources, who asked that their identity be withheld, said the group included some of Holland's 11 provincial governors, mayors of some large cities and members of the judiciary.

Two Bodies Brought Up

TIMMINS (CP) — The bodies of two Timmins gold miners were recovered from under tons of wet sand in the Paymaster Consolidated Mine Friday after an all-night search by their fellow workers.

The victims were shift boss John Barkley, 47, and Rondanino Palumbo, 50.

Flu at the Top

Political power doesn't mean immunity to flu. Down with the flu yesterday were Prime Minister Macmillan in London and Prime Minister Khrushchev in Moscow, but doctors said they're both well enough to work at home.

'It's a Miracle'

Born with Cancer Babies Recovered

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The cases of two girl babies born with widespread cancer—and apparently cured before their first birthdays—were disclosed Friday by their physician.

The parents of one child called it a miracle due to prayers of friends.

The parents of the other attributed the recovery to quick surgery and radiation treatments.

HOSPITAL LAUDED

The physician who removed tumors from both infants said the credit was due largely to "the enlightened attitude and excellent facilities of the hospital in which they were born — the "Little Company of Mary Hospital" of suburban Torrance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Calise of nearby Lomita said: "We know it is an act of God that saved our daughter Lucia Angela."

Lucia was born a year ago with cancer in her stomach, neck and bone marrow. The obstetrician had to breathe into her mouth to bring her to life.

Three days later she underwent surgery, even though doctors told the Calises she had almost no chance.

Now her physician said: "As far as we can tell she is free of cancer."

He Tried Hard To Die

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 62-year-old Brooklyn man swallowed lye, slashed his wrists and throat and gripped an electrified subway third rail in unsuccessful suicide attempts.

Police said Isidore Lubin was in critical condition.

He was pulled from the third rail by a subway motorman and a conductor.

They Lost 11 Days in 1752 — Time Is Catching Up

Christmas Comes to Outer Banks

RODANTHE, N.C. (UPI) — Christmas came yesterday in this little community on the Outer Banks but it will not be celebrated until today.

The Jan. 5 Christmas or "Old Christmas" has been observed on the Outer Banks, so the story has it, since 1752, when the present calendar, which eliminated 11 days, was introduced.

Since that date, the hardy folks of the Outer Banks have celebrated "Old Christmas" on the eve of the Epiphany.

But time has caught up with the Outer Banks and many of its residents have moved to the mainland. And that is the reason why "Old Christmas" will be celebrated today.

The families want to give all the relatives a chance to return to the Outer Banks for the annual ceremony which includes the pounding of an ancient drum and the appearance of "Old Buck."

Legend has it that "Old Buck," the Christmas bull, packs a mean wallop for those children who have been naughty during the year.
